INTEREST IN RUSSIA TAKES FIRMER GRIP

State Department and Congress Expected to Give Matter More Thought

SOME WANT RECOGNITION

Several Congressmen, Returning from Abroad, Back Movement Anew

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Washington—(CPA)—Although official announcements from the department of state declare that the policy of the American government toward recognition of the Russian Soviet regime is unchanged, the prospect is there will be more discussion of this subject in the next session of congress than heretofore.

Several members of congress have been visiting Russia this summer and some of them already have indicated their belief that a change of policy by the United States is undesirable.

So far as the state department is concerned it is following what it believes to be American public opinion and while there have been a number of evidences here and there that important and influential leaders wish to see recognition extended, no crystalization of sentiment has been apparent.

Interest in the Russian problem, however, is unquestionably growing. The Russians are buying in the neighborhood of one hundred fifty million dollars worth of American goods and services. Returning engineers speak of the industrial development in Russia based upon American methods.

NO PLAN EVOLVED

As yet no plan has been evolved whereby the countries operating on a capitalistic system can reconcile their views with a communistic theory. There are many American business men, however, who believe that a freer intercourse betwen the United States and Russia will gradually result in modifications on the Russian side.

There are of course certain questions and issues between the Russian government and the Washington government which will some day have to be solved. It has never been decided what shall be done on the matter of war debts contracted by either the government of the Czar or the Kerensky regime. The Russians have always contended that counter-claims would be filed whenever a conference on the debt question is held. The Soviet holds the American government and allied governments responsible for the damage done by the socalled White Armies in the period when efforts were being made to overthrow the Bolshevik rulers.

Two other points also have never been settled. One relates to the sanctity of international obligations which is a pre-requisite always to recognition. The Russians argue that they will not observe or respect obligations entered into by the Russian government before they came into power but that they will keep their word on any agreements they themselves make.

PROBE PROPAGANDA

The other point relates to world-wide propaganda. The Soviet leaders insist this has been much exaggerated and is an outgrowth of the plans made when the whole world seemed to be backing the counter-revolutionary movements in Russia. Satisfactory evidence as to the discontinuance of this propaganda has never been received by American government officials. In fact a committee of the house of representatives is investigating at this time communistic activities in the United States.

All that may be said at the moment is that more interest is being taken in the Russian problem and that the department of state will be influenced to consider the question of recognition and to enter into parleys with the Russian government as to a basis of agreement only when it is apparent that public opinion has manifested either inside and outside of congress favor such a course.

BRAZIL GIRL WINS WORLD BEAUTY TITLE AT RIO DE JANEIRO

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil —(AP)— The title of "Miss Universe" was conferred today upon Senhorinia Hollanda Percia, representative of Brazil in the International beauty contest.

Second place went equally to Fernanda Goncales of Portugal and Alice Diplorackou of Greece. Miss Beatrice Lee, who was Miss "United States," was accorded third place.

The girls were chosen from a group of 26 girls, winners of previous beauty contests in all parts of the world. The contest did not permit bathing suits, but only evening clothes, street clothes and the like.

Dry Groups In Illinois Split Policy

Chicago—(AP)—The women's Christian Temperance Union and six other Illinois women organizations today split on policy with the Anti Saloon League in regard to the prohibition referendum and the November elections.

They will indorse no candidate in the United States senatorial contest but will muster dry votes on the referendum.

This was the announcement made jointly today by Miss Helen L. Hood, president of the Illinois W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCullough, president of the Democratic Women's Prohibition Enforcement league.

Their organiaztions and five others diverged from the policy announced Saturday by the Anti Saloon League of Illinois, which urged its followers to ignore the liquor referendum and indorsed Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill as a dry, independent candidate for the senate.

Miss Hood said the organizations cooperating are the Women's City club, the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, the Democratic Women's Prohibition Enforcement League, the Methodist Women's Home Missionary society, the Chicago Women's Church Federation, the W. C. T. U. and the Cook-co League of Women Voters.

Friday a committee representing these groups will elect officers and prepare a campaign for workers, who will cover every county of the state.

"Women's organizations of Illinois believe it is more important to recruit an overwhelming 'no' vote on the referendum than to back any particular candidate," Miss Hood said.

"We already know that James Hamilton Lewis is a wet and that Mrs. McCormick has said she will follow the will of the voters in the referendum. We also know that Mrs. O'Neill is a conscientious dry. With these positions clear it has seemed unnecessary and useless to sponsor a particular candidate, for no matter who is elected, if the people declare in unquestionable terms their dry convictions, they cannot be ignored.

Mrs. McCullough said that dry voters should have the right of selecting their candidate.

"Then they may state in unmistakable terms by the referendum what they expect their candidate to do," she said.

"Other referendums have shown that Illinois is convinced on the question of prohibition and only a manipulation in Chicago has caused the answer to be 'wet'."

DAVID G. CLASSON DIES AT OCONTO

War-time Congressman of Ninth District Succumbs After Long Illness

Oconto—(AP)— David G. Classon, 60, war-time congressman of the ninth Wisconsin district (1917-1921), and former circuit judge of the 20th circuit, died at his home here late Saturday night.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., with burial in the Oconto Evergreen cemtery with Masonic services.

Judge Classon had been ill for the last two yearrs. In 1921 he was on the verge of a nervous breakdown from overwork.

He is survived by his widow, five children, four grandchildren, his mother, and three brothers, William, Edmund, and Allan.

He was a stalwart and a strong supporter of America's entry into the World War.

Judge Classon was one of the two Wisconsin congressmen to vote for war, the rest of the delegation with the exception of [illegible] voting "no" on the declaration.

ELECTIONS IN TEN STATES DURING WEEK

Only Inter-party Contest Before November Is in Maine Today

Washington—(AP)—Ten states will choose party candidates for the senate, house or state offices this week, led by the election today in Maine, only inter-party contest before November.

Maine voters choose for senator between Wallace H. White, former Republican representative, and Frank H. Haskell, the Democratic choice. After this week only three states will have to select party nominees, Massachusetts, New York and Wisconsin, holding primaries on Sept. 16.

Maryland has no senatorial election this year and in the primaries today the candidates for governor are unopposed. Albert C. Ritchie is to obtain the Democratic nomination to succeed himself while Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore receives the Republican right to oppose him in November.

In South Carolina Tuesday a Democratic run-off primary is to decide between Senator Cole L. Blease and James F. Byrnes who opposed him unsuccessfully in 1924, and between Irba C. Blackwood and Olin D. Johnston, both of Spartanburg, for the governorship.

On the same day Louisiana Democrats will settle the contest between the veteran Senator Ransdell and Governor Huey P. Long.

A successor to Senator Lawrence C. Phipps is to be chosen Tuesday by Colorado Republicans. William V. Hodges, bearing the support of the retiring Phipps, is opposed by George H. Shaw.

At the same time in Michigan Senator James Couzens will be opposed by former Governor Chase B. Osborn, befriended by the Anti-Saloon league of his state. The Democrat, Thomas E. A. Weadock is unopposed.

Neither Senator Keyes nor Representative Fletcher Hale and Edward H. Watson are opposed in New Hampshire for the Republican renomination but Democrats will choose between Albert W. Noone and Amos N. Blandin to oppose Keyes in the election.

No senate contests occur in the remainder of Tuesday's primaries which are in Vermont, Arizona and Washington. The Republicans of Vermont have three candidates for governor, W. Arthur Simpson, Stanley C. Wilson and John W. Gordon.

In Arizona Governor John C. Phillips, Republican, is up for reelection, with four Democrats seeking the right to oppose him.

Wednesday's only primary will be in Georgia where Senator William J. Harris is opposed for Democratic renomination by former governor John M. Slaton.

U. S. CONTRACTS FOR 29 NEW AIRPLANES

Washington —(AP)— Contracts for four tri-motored Ford cargo planes and for 24 Pratt and Whitney "Wasp" engines at an aggregate cost of more than $290,000 were announced today by the war department.

A contract with the Detroit Aircraft Corporations for a fast, single-engined Detroit Lockheed transport plane costing $16,667 also was announced.

Coste, Pal Are Guests Of Hoover

President Welcomes French Fliers at Luncheon at White House

Washington —(AP)—President Hoover expressed today to Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte the feeling of the United States that their Paris to New York flight returned the visit made to France by Charles A. Lindbergh.

At the White House before the state luncheon he gave in their honor, the president recalled "the thirty hours and more of intense emotion that gripped us while our own Colonel Lindbergh was winging his way to Paris."

Earlier, the French fliers had honored the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington with a wreath. They also had paid their respects to members of the cabinet.

The text of President Hoover's welcome was:

"It gives me great pleasure to welcome you here today. Every American recalls the 30 hours and more of intense emotion that gripped us while own own Colonel Lindbergh was winging his way to Paris, and the sense of relief and joy that swept over the nation when word came that he had safely landed. Our pride and happiness were redoubled when we heard of the magnificent reception given to him by the government and people of France. Our hearts went out in fraternal warmth to those who had so royally welcomed our national hero.

"Today, therefore, every American knows exactly what pride and happiness possesses every French heart, at the knowledge that these two gallant sons of France stand safely on our soil. We wish the people of France to know that our welcome of their two heroes is warm and spontaneous and universal. We rejoice that this brilliant feat has been accomplished. We are delighted to honor these two men who have thus dramatically recalled Colonel Lindbergh's call.

"This return visit of French aviators is even more than an occasion for national rejoicing and international felictations. What they have done, what the great American aviators have done, Byrd, Rickenbacker, and the rest, both those who sacrificed themselves wholly and those who live, is a glory of the whole humane race. It demonstrates again the high courage of mankind. It gives heart to all of us in whatever tasks engage us, for it proves that there are no limits to the courage of men and that there are no limits to what courage can accomplish.

"Again, gentlemen, I welcome you, on behalf of the American government and on behalf of the American people."

CONSIDER METHODS OF HELPING AGRICULTURE

Washington — (AP) — To consider methods of promoting agriculture, forestry and the animal industry, delegates from 21 nations met at the Pan American Union today in the first Inter-American conference on these subjects.

Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work of the Department of Agriculture, was elected chairman and Leon M. Estabrook, secretary-general.

Discussions are to last 12 days.

Italian City Is Mecca For Worshipping Pilgrims

Loreto, Italy —(AP)— All day today through the main street of this picturesque little town, poised on the heights with the green Adriatic below, passed a procession to the sanctuary of the "Holy House of Nazareth," also know as the "Flying House," to celebrate the nativity of the Blessed Virgin. For over 800 years the great and the lowly, from king and crusaders to beggars, have trod the road up to this shrine, bearing their gifts.

The procession today included a number of aviators, for "Our Lady of Loreto was proclaimed their protectress by the late Pope Benedict XV: American touring motorists and their families, and peasants clad in the vivid costumes of the Abruzzi and the Marches. Many came into town on foot, priests, students, old men and women, grandmothers leading broods of grandchildren and mothers carrying their latest born in baskets balanced on their heads.

To the chant of litanies they all wound through the principal street into the piazza of the Madonna. One heard on every side the cries.

"Viva Maria! Long live the Madonna!" being taken up and repeated both solemnly and joyfully.

The "Holy House of Nazareth," according to legend, was the very one in which the Blessed Virgin was born and raised, where she received the visit of the annunciation, and where she resided after Christ's ascension. The apostles are supposed to have converted it into a church at a later date. When Nazareth was threatened by the Turks the legend has it that the house was borne miraculously through the air to a hill near Scutari, where a number of cures effected on visitors attested its sanctity. Later, when thieves and pirates invested the region, during the period of the crusaders, angels, it is said, transported the house to the Hill of Loreta and set it down among the laurel groves.

It is a tiny house, but encased by lofty marble screens designed by the great Bramante and executed by Andrea Sansovino and Della Porta, under commission from the popes. The four screens represent the annunciation, the nativity of Christ, the arrival of the holy house at Loreto, and the nativity of the Blessed Virgin herself. Inside is a small statue of the Madonna and child carved in black wood of Lebanon, and supposed to have been the work of St. Luke, the artist of the four evangelists.

All the pilgrims today carried candles, which they reverently added to the thousands already burning by the famous shrine.

Louisiana Governor Is Struck By Newspaper Man

BULLETIN

New Orleans — (AP) — Governor Huey P. Long appeared at the federal court today at answer to a subpoena to explain why he and his associates should not produce in open court Samuel Irby and James Terrell, two men who have been held in seclusion since Thursday when they had planned to file suit against the Governor charging slander.

The governor was accompanied by a guard of state highway police. Irby was reported to be in the federal building.

As the governor and his party started into the building press photographers tried to take pictures but the guards held their cameras.

New Orleans — (AP) — Governor Huey P. Long was struck on the nose today by William G. Wiegand a reporter of the New Orleans Item, after the reporter said the governor had called him a profane name.

The reporter had gone to the governor's quarters in the Roosevelt hotel just ahead of a United States deputy marshal, who had a subpoena for the governor's appearance in federal court in connection with the disappearance of Samuel Irby and James Terrell. As Wiegand entered the room he said he was seized by two bodyguards of the governor.

He said that as he was being held, the governor called him a vile name on two occasions. The reporter said he broke loose from the guards and struck the governor. He declared the guards grabbed him again and the governor hit him twice in the face.

The governor threatened to have the reporter arrested for impersonating an officer but Robert S. Maestri, commissioner of conservation, dissuaded the governor. Governor Long then apologized to Mr. Wiegand for calling him the name and Mr. Weigand apologized for striking the governor.

The New Orleans Item had been waging a campaign against Governor Long who seeks nomination as United States Senator.

Cars Kill 11 Persons In Weekend

By the Associated Press

The dead:

Mrs. L. E. Manning, Oshkosh; Leonard Swanson, 4, Milwaukee; Emil Dahlman, 22, Carrollville; Frank Boyes, 18, Milwaukee; and Samuel Barbouer, Canadian sailor; Raymond Brotherhood, 8 months old, Milwaukee; Alvin Franz, 60, Milwaukee; Sidney Crowe, 19, Sheboygan; John Regan, 70, Stoughton; John Scanlon, 21.

Mrs. Manning was killed when hurled from the rear seat against the front seat of an automobile driven by Dr. George F. Frantz, Oshkosh. The automobile skidded from a road and crashed into a ditch. Other occupants of the car were unhurt.

The Swanson boy died from a fractured skull suffered when he ran into the side of a car driven by Ezra Bauer, Milwaukee.

Dahman met death when his car crashed from the road as he attempted to turn past a warning barrier set up near Carrollville.

Boyner was killed when an automobile driven by Charles Kalamaja, 28, Milwaukee, swerved from the highway on a curve and was ditched.

Barbouer was killed when a car carrying a party of sailors overturned near Manitowoc.

Struck by a car while crossing a street in Stoughton, John Regan, 70, was killed Saturday night. Einar Moe, 20, declared the accident unavoidable and said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching automobile.

William Gaulke, town of Easton, Marathon-co, was killed Sunday night on highway 52 three miles east of Wausau while walking on the highway. He was struck by a car driven by Ben Schultz, Wausau.

Keith Clark, 4, son of John Clark, Menasha, died yesterday afternoon a half hour after he was struck by a truck on a street at Stevens Point.

STUDY BRIAND'S FEDERATION PLAN

French Foreign Minister Expected to Explain Details to Council

Geneva —(AP)— Representatives of 27 European nations went into private conference here this afternoon to study Aristide Briand's plan for a political and economic federation in Europe.

A full explanation by the French which is among the most important business at the present council and assembly sessions, will probably be given on Thursday.

M. Briand is expected to speak during debate in the assembly, which opens Wednesday.

Today's session will be occupied with a more or less formal resume of the study already made and an analysis by M. Briand of the replies received to his memorandum of May 17 outlining a plan of organization.

Great Britain's desire that discussion of the memorandum and the replies be placed upon the agenda of the assembly rather diminished the importance of the sessions today and tomorrow but indicated that the discussion would assume wider scope later.

The meetings today and tomorrow are called "the European conference."

The council of the league announced today the amicable settlement of the delicate situation which had arisen as the result of the mandates commission's recent frank criticism of British administrations in Palestine.

WORLD SERIES TO START ON OCT. 1

First Two Games Will Be Played in Park of Winning American League Team

Chicago —(AP)— The 1930 world series will open Oct. 1 in the park of the team winning the American League pennant, probably Philadelphia, it was decided at a conference in Commissioner K. M. Landis' office today.

Games one and two will be played at the home of the American League champions with numbers three, four and five in the National Leauge champions' park. If sixth and seventh games are necessary they will be played in the American League winner's park.

Prices will be indentical with those of 1929. The prices, including tax: Boxes $6.60; grand stand reserved $5.50; general admission $3.00, and bleachers $1.00. All games will start at 1:30 p. m. standard time.

Ticket applications will be accepted starting with next Monday, Sept. 15.

If the Cubs or St. Louis Cardinals win the National League pennant, one day's traveling time will intervene between games number two and three. If the New York Giants or Brooklyn win, the series will continue without let-up barring rain.

Neither the Washington club of the American League nor the New York Giants of the National League sent representatives to today's conference, each club apparently certain it is out of the championship picture.

DECREASE IN BADGER FARMS IS REPORTED

Illinois, 214,871 against 237,181 in 1920, a decrease of 22,310 farms or 9.4 per cent; Pennsylvania 172,046 against 202,250 in 1920, a decrease of 30,204 or 14.9 per cent; Wisconsin, 182,028 against 183,925 in 1920, a decrease of 7,267 or 3.8 per cent.

In Pennsylvania only one of the 67 counties, Fayette, which now has 3,371 farms against 3,267 in 1920, an increase of 3.2 per cent, showed an increase.

PASTOR TRANSFERRED UPON OWN REQUEST

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Rev. George Kenneth MacInnis, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church for several years and militant prohibitionist, has been transferred upon his request to the Methodist church at Evansville. In asking for the transfer, he gave as one of the reasons his plan to write a volume of prohibition poetry and the noise of the city, he said hampered poetic expression.

DANCING TEACHER IS HELD IN SHOOTING

Washington — (AP)—Barbara Walker, a 25-year old dancing teacher, was held today by police who said she admitted shooting Russell Prince, 26, when Prince refused to let her leave his apartment last night.

No charges have been filed.

CALL HOLIDAY TO SWEAR IN NEW LEADERS

New Government Outlines Policies and Designates Officials

BULLETIN

Buenos Aires — (AP)—General Jose Evaristo Uriburu was sworn in this afternoon as provisional president of Argentina. The ceremonies were conducted publicly as the climax of a holiday of rejoicing over the revolution but with a strong military guard.

Buenos Aires, Argentina—(AP)—All Argentina today welcomed the revolution by which President Hipolito Irigoyen and his regime were ousted from office, and shared a nation wide holiday declared for the purpose of swearing in the new ministers at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Most of the people of Buenos Aires started out for their accustomed work this afternoon, not knowing the holiday was in force. They gladly joined the enormous crowd gathered before the government house or took part in parades, enthusiastically shouting for the revolution. The military junta headed by General Jose Svaristo Uriburu, declared the inauguration of the new ministers should be one of "solemnity befitting the moment."

The new government continued to designate officials throughout the country, issuing widespread orders for the arrests of certain ministers and officials whose part in the rebellion appeared doubtful.

General Uriburu and the provisional government he established now enjoy unquestioned authority throughout the republic. [illegible] today around the government palace where the new cabinet attempted to pick up the business of the state and carry it forward.

Leaders of the Irigoyen regime have been scattered to the four winds. Some fled to Montevideo, Uruguay. Others are in hiding in Argentina, while some have been arrested.

President Irigoyen spent the morning at the seventh infantry barracks in La Plata, where he was virtually interned after fleeing from the capital.

The fallen president will probably remain two or three days on his sick-

3 PANAMA CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN

Political Atmosphere Clears Somewhat When Action Becomes Known

Panama —(AP)— The political atmosphere here was cleared somewhat in the forenoon today by announcement of the resignation of three members of the cabinet, Interior Secretary Robles, Finance Secretary Duque and the foreign affairs minister, Arosemena.

Officials said the resignations grew out of differences between Secretary of Education Duncan and the assembly in which the assembly recently repudiated Duncan and asked the president to refrain from using him as his official representative in the chamber concerning educational matters.

Secretary Clement conferred with President Arosemena for an hour before luncheon, studying the resignations of the three members. At the presidential offices receipts of the resignation was not admitted although Secretary Quijano said they had been rumored.

Foreign Minister Arosemena told the Associated Press correspondent shortly after noon, as he was driving homeward, that he had resigned.

"Ministers Duque, Robles and I resigned this forenoon," Secretary Arosemena said. "Minister Robles presented the resignations to the president."

The secretary said he would attend an important meeting of the national assembly this afternoon.

By midday the Cathedral Plaza, known as Independent Square, was thronged. Interest in the political situation appeared increasing momentarily.

GOLFER AT MADISON IS KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Madison —(AP)— Paul Henning, 34, was killed and his wife, Catherine, 31, was badly burned yesterday when lightning struck a tree on the Burr Oaks Golf course here under which they had sought shelter during a rainstorm.

They had gone to the course for an early morning round, and as they finished play on the third green, the storm broke.

Dr. C. O. [illegible], attending physician, said Mrs. Henning will recover.

SPONGE SQUAD LANDS MEN IN COUNTY JAIL

CROWD BOOS RAIDERS

Spectators Jam Sidewalks as Prohibition Agents Make Arrests

Two Appleton soft drink parlor operators, two operators from Calumet-co and two Calumet-co bartenders were to appear before the federal court commissioner at Green Bay Monday afternoon following raids made Saturday night by federal prohibition agents under direction of W. Frank Cunningham, Milwaukee, district dry chief.

The Appleton soft drink owners are Tom Miller, of the Club cafe at 205 W. College-ave, and Peter Lanser, operating a parlor at 525 W. College-ave. The others are Howard "Dixie" Campbell proprietor of the soft drink parlor at Waverly Beach, and his bartender, Charles Jorgenson, and Walter Smolenksi and George Gavill, operating the Two White Post Inn, located on Highway 114, east of Finnegan's corners.

FIVE SQUADS

Five squads of agents under direction of Cunningham, swept into the city shortly before 9 o'clock armed with search warrants for the places they raided. The group traveled in four cars and made their visits almost simultaneously.

Besides the five places where owners or bartenders were arrested the agents visited Rainbow Gardens where it is said they found a pint of alleged liquor under a table belonging to some guest but the guest refused to profess ownership.

The raiders reported finding four bottles of alleged whiskey at Miller's two pints being full and two half full. They also got a pint of gin and some wine. At Waverly beach six gallons of alleged whisky, were reported found in the soft drink parlor and in the residence of Mr. Campbell. Two pints were found on the person of Charles Jorgenson, the bartender.

At the Two White Post Inn, wine and whisky in an undetermined quantity were found. Peter Lanser's place netted nothing but they arrested the proprietor anyway after kicking in the door and finding Lanser in a back room. Lanser's place had been closed up before the raiders arrived.

Word that the raiders were in town caused large crowds to gather at the scene of the raids. As the raiders pushed into Miller's place and hurdled the bar pushing Mr. Miller against the cash register to inform him they were federal men, there were indications the crowd did not like the proceedings. One of the agents pulled a gun as the men pushed through the crowd with their prisoner amid booes and uncomplimentary remarks.

Placing Miller in a car, the driver had trouble starting it and again the crowd gathered around and indicated it would just as soon mob the vehicle. When the car was started it had to be forced through the group which had gathered.

GATHER AT JAIL

Crowds also gathered at a half dozen other places in the city where it was expected raids would be made but their curiosity went for nothing. When it was learned the prisoners were being taken to the county jail, a crowd gathered there milling about the window in the sheriff's office, peering inside to get a glimpse of the raiders or their prisoners.

As the squads returned with their men they brought them to the county jail where they were placed in one of the rooms outside the cell rooms until the last group reported about 11:45.

Friends of the men held, had appeared in the meantime and offered to go bond. Cunningham said that was impossible until a court commissioner set the bond and the men were placed in custody of Sheriff John Lappen until taken to Green Bay.

Individual search warrants were produced by the raiders in each case. They ordered searching of the premises indicated, the warrants being signed by United States Commissioner Floyd Jenkins of Milwaukee. Raids were the result of purchases of liquor by federal men over a period of several weeks. In one case the warrant read that three glasses of alleged liquor had been purchased by one of the undercover agents.

Soft drink proprietors throughout the entire district had been tipped off that the federal men would be through here soon according to reports, but because "tip-offs" come so often little attention was paid to them especially after the early evening passed and no one showed up. In several places the sale of alleged liquor had started but a few minutes before the agents arrived.

The agents were the same men who passed through the Fox river valley several times last week and raided points in the northern part of the state. Two of the towns visited were Crandon and Argonne where several Kentuckians were arrested in their soft drink parlors.

Outbreak Of Disease Is Feared In Santo Domingo

SEEK TRUCKS TO CLEAN UP CITY STREETS

Planes and Ships Rush Provisions and Medical Supplies to Area

BULLETIN

Washington—(AP)— The navy department announced today that a destroyer would be sent to Santo Domingo with medical and relief supplies to aid hurricane victims.

At the request of the American Red Cross the department ordered Rear Admiral W. R. Sexton, commander of the scouting fleet destroyer squadrons, to dispatch a destroyer from Newport, R. I., to arrive at New York city by sundown today. At New York the vessel will receive a cargo of medical and relief supplies.

Santo Domingo—(AP)—Santo Domingo, devastated by a hurricane last Wednesday which took more than 4,000 lives, today feared that outbreaks would cause a scource as bad as the storm itself.

Insufficient medical supplies, unclean streets and the lack of food all contributed to a condition which worried native and visiting physicians. Cremation of the dead continued.

The attitude of the physicians probably was best indicated in that all are taking every prophylactic injection possible. With the hospital survey unfinished, more than 1,000 storm victims already have been found to have gangrene, or other infections.

At one camp yesterday more than 1,300 persons took anti-toxin innoculations for typhoid. The medical supplies are sent here from San Juan and Havana.

The task of cleaning the city's streets of all their debris is proving impossible. There is not an automobile, truck, or wagon in the country which was not damaged.

SEEK CLEANING TRUCKS

Two possible sources of supply for the trucks are under consideration, one at Port au Prince, Haiti, where United States marines have a number of trucks and the other from Porto-Rico, where 20 street cleaning trucks are available.

One of the principal needs is good drinking water. Work is beginning in re-establishing the power house and in reconstruction of the water line.

E. J. Swift, assistant director of insular and foreign operations of the American Red Cross, was expected by plane today it assist in the relief work. He will confer at once with President General Rafael Trujillo.

The German ship Midas signalled from off shore during the night that it had 50 tons of provisions from Porto Rico aboard as well as electricians who would help restore the city's power plant. The ship said that additional medical supplies are enroute both by ship and by plane, expected tomorrow.

Dr. Barrios, medical inspector from Porto Rico, yesterday began the construction of a tent hospital near the presidential mansion. It is designed to take care of 1,000 patients, the first of whom probably will be admitted today.

RAINS SWELL RIVER

Port au Prince, Haiti—(AP)—Heavy rains lasting more than 24 hours have seriously swollen the Ozama river and made travel through the hurricane zone in the interior of Santo Domingo all but impossible today. The Ozama's flow has increased to 15 miles an hour effectually preventing boats from entering its mouth.

The people of Santiago with whom observers talked related that they could hear the storm, howling like a million friends in the air as it passed overhead. The people were greatly awed by the phenomenon.

Plantations east of Santiago within the area of the storm were wiped out for a distance of 15 to 20 miles.

Relief work organized in Santiago, the metropolis of northern Santo Domingo, today was greatly hampered by the condition of roads and rivers. The forwarding of food to the stricken areas was almost tied up.

Airplanes today formed virtually the only mode of travel into the stricken area. The population pathetically watched the arrival of each plane at the Santo Domingo field, hailing each as angels of mercy alighting from the sky amid a scene of great misery.

Aviation reconnaissance has shown that the hurricane after razing Santo Domingo city traveled northwest, destroying everything in its path in an area 25 to 40 miles wide for a distance of about 50 miles.

When the hurricane hit the side of the mountains, rising almost perpendicularly in its path, the storm actually skinned the south slope of the mountain range there and hurtled into the air, touching only the high points in the succeeding ranges upon its course to the sea.

The area of the Santiago, Vega and Boga valleys, which are the productive part of the country, were spared.

INVESTIGATES NEEDS

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Ernest J. Swift, assistant director of insular and foreign operations for the American Red Cross, left here by airplane today to investigate relief needs in storm stricken Santo Domingo. He will cooperate with other American officials already on the scene of the diaster. The plane left here at 6:30 a. m. (E. S. T.)

Also on the plane was a shipment of 455 pounds of serum for use by medical authorities at Santo Domingo. The serums are tetanus, gas gangrene and anaerobi antitoxin. A shipment of 150 pounds of medical and drug supplies donated for emergency use by Miami merchants was on the plane.

The airplane, owned by Pan American Airways, is scheduled to arrive in Santo Domingo tomorrow.

Airmail is soon to speed across the United States by two almost entirely new trans-continental routes, south of the existing route from New York to the Pacific coast, via Chicago, which branches out like a fan from Salt Lake City. The Postoffice Department at Washington is preparing to begin service between New York and Los Angeles via Atlanta, Birmingham, Dallas and El Paso and on another route between these two cities, via Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Columbus Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Amarillo and Albuquerque. It is expected that the new air mail service will begin later this year. The above map, prepared by the aeronautics branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce from newest data, shows routes already lighted for night flying, those being lighted and other airways.

200 VOTERS ATTEND FARMER LABOR MEET

More than 200 voters attended the meeting of the Outagamie County Farmer Labor Progressive Republican league at Trades and Labor hall and heard several candidates for county offices in talks seeking support. State Senator A. M. Miller, Kaukauna, gave a short talk, in which he urged the members of the league to leave no stone unturned to secure votes for the Progressive slate of candidates for state offices.

Fred E. Bachman, president of the league, presided at the meeting and appointed committees from each county precinct to get out the Progressive vote. Another meeting of the league is scheduled for 8:30 next Saturday evening, according to Mr. Bachman, when precinct workers will be given their final instructions.

MENASHA GIRL HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

Miss R. Kolze, 23, Menasha suffered cuts about the head when an automobile in which she was riding was struck by another car at the corner of E. Washington and N. Morrison-sts, about 10:30 Saturday evening. Miss Kolze was riding with Martin Arno, Menasha, the other car being driven by B. T. Hoffmaster, 634 W. Prospect-st. Both cars were slightly damaged.

HAUGEN IN CHARGE OF GROUP PLANNING RETAIL INSTITUTE

Replaces John Neller; Plans for Two-day Event Almost Completed

Karl Haugen has been named chairman of the committee in charge of the retail institute to be held here Sept. 23 and 24 under the auspices of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and the direction of the University of Wisconsin Extension division. He replaces John Neller who was unable to take over the leadership of the group.

The committee reports that plans for the institute are almost completed. Local luncheon clubs including Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary are cooperating with the committee, and will devote their weekly luncheon meetings to the institute.

Harvey Schlintz, chamber of commerce president, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Northern at 12:15 Tuesday afternoon. He will outline plans for the institute. A. J. Geniesse, another member of the chapter institute committee also will speak. He represents the retail division of the chamber.

The institute is being held here for business executives and their employes. Special meetings are being arranged for executives during the day, while open forum conferences will be held in the evening for sales people at Appleton vocational school. The institute is to be held here upon request of the vocational school.

CONSERVATIVES MEET AT LITTLE CHUTE, SEYMOUR

Conservative Republicans of Outagamie-co, who are backing Governor Walter J. Kohler for reelection, are planning two political rallies to be held this week in Little Chute and Seymour.

The meetings were arranged by the Outagamie County Republican committees, according to W. H. Zuehlke, Appleton, chairman. The gathering at Little Chute will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in connection with a concert to be given by the Little Chute band on the boulevard there. The meeting at Seymour will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday evening but the place has not yet been arranged.

Max Strehlow, Green Bay attorney, will be the speaker at both meetings Mr. Zuehlke announced. Mr. Strehlow will urge support for Governor Kohler and the complete stalwart ticket.

MAN CHARGED WITH SPEEDING ON AVENUE

HITT INCOME TAX BILL DENOUNCED BY GOV. KOHLER

Claims Progressive Measure Was Poor Piece of Legislation

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—Condemnation of the Hitt income tax bill, which he vetoed at the last session of the legislature and which is praised as "progressivism under the present ring," was made here in a speech yesterday by Gov. Walter J. Kohler.

The bill, which was a substitute for the administration Daggett bill, was called "one of the worst drawn pieces of legislation" by the governor.

"The Daggett Income Tax bill, which had my hearty support, was introduced to lower the tax on small incomes but making no reduction in the tax on large incomes," Governor Kohler said.

"This bill was killed by the so-called Progressives in the assembly. In its stead there was passed the Hitt bill, which I vetoed.

"It was the unanimous opinion of the tax commission that the Hitt bill was unworkable and that it violated the elementary proposition that tax legislation should be clear, plain and intelligible.

"This is the sort of income tax legislation which the opposition tried to saddle upon the people of Wisconsin. It demonstrates in a startling way that the battle they are waging is a battle for political office rather than for the benefit of the people of this state.

ARTILLERY BAND TO PLAY CONCERT TUESDAY

The 120th Field Artillery band will play a concert Tuesday evening at Pierce park it was announced Monday by Edward F. Mumm, band director. The concert will begin at 8 o'clock.

"Home Sweet Home the World Over" will be one of the numbers on the evening's program, according to the director while another will be "Der Freischutz."

Raymond Schilke will be concert soloist and Miss Florence Roate, soprano soloist.

COOPERATION WILL SOLVE FARM ILLS, SAYS CONGRESSMAN

Schneider Speaks Before 2,000 People at Equity Picnic

BY W. F. WINSEY

At the annual picnic of the Outagamie Cooperative Equity Exchange in Pierce's park, Sunday afternoon, 2,000 farmers and city people heard Congressman George J. Schneider discuss the farm problem and recommend team work and organization as the most promising methods of solving it. The effective solution of the problem involves the use of economic principles and as much politics as has proved beneficial to manufacturing, other industries and labor organizations, according to the congressman.

"My experience as a representative of labor has convinced me that the solution of the problem of any economic group rests primarily in the hands of group," said Mr. Schneider. "I am frank to state to you that the less the farm problem is made a political football of politicians and the greater interest the farmer takes in it himself and the more diligently he works with his own economic organization the greater is the chance for at satisfactory solution of the farm problem," continued the congressman.

"Farm cooperative organizations and business organizations are the instruments to be used by the farmer to work out his needs and to obtain greater advantages for the membership of his organization as well as for himself."

"I do not wish to minimize the power of the government to help economic groups through its political machinery. In fact the cooperative weapon and the political weapon, the voting powers of the farmer, should go hand in hand and should not be used against each other. Thus the government, through congress at its last session, passing an act has been able to aid the farmer directly through his organization. This piece of legislation is the agricultural act.

GRASP CHANCE

"If the farmers knew the great potential advantages they could gain through the agricultural act, they would promptly and intelligently grasp the opportunity it presents. I dare say that some of those who supported the marketing act never had in mind the fact that the government had actually taken the position that it not only approved of the principle of collective action by farmers in the economic field through their cooperative but that it will also finance cooperatives in their work of stabilizing production and marketing.

"Uncle Sam has gone farther than that. This government is willing to assist in the organization of farmers."

"Thus the principle of cooperation which so many of your farm leaders have advocated has the ungaulified support of the government, and has finally become recognized as one of the essential institutions of our economic life."

"But while congress has done that much for the farmers, it is regretting that the good work was undone to a large degree by the effect of other legislation such as the tariff bill that added new burdens upon the consumers and particularly upon the farmer. I venture to say that if the farmer realized what great political strength he posseses, he would learn to use the cooperative principal at the voting booth, and thus, instead of using the ballot against himself he would use it to elect a congress that would not prove as inconsistent as the congress of the last session. Intead we would have a congress that could be depended upon to work always in the interest of the farmers and the general public. The remedy is in your own hands. Use your economic and your political power intelligently and effectively.

PRAISES EQUITY

"The American Society of Equity is to be congratulated for the great work it has done in the organization of farmers. This society has done more for the farmers than has any other society. The Grange is also to be congratulated for the organization work it has done. All kinds of farmers' organizations help the good work along. I hope the Equity and the Grange will grow until they include all farmers in their membership."

"I do not like to talk politics on an occasion of this kind. But a great part of the financial success of manufacturing and business is obtained through politics. These interests keep men in legislatures if they can who are favorable and can be depended upon at critical times. Labor and farmers should do the same thing if they want the organization to be powerful and effective. Labor in congress has always backed the interest of farmers there, and will continue to do so."

"One cause of the present depressing time for farmers is that four million men in the United States are out of employment and they are not able to purchase the usual quantities of farm products.

MANY GAMES

The amusement and entertainment features of the picnic were games, contests and music, supervised by County Agent Gus Sell. Mr. Sell did the announcing and George Schmit and Theodore Glaser were the judges The contests, the number of entries, and winners of first, second and third prizes are as follows:

CHURCH HISTORY TO BE WRITTEN BY REV. BITTLE

The Rev. Celestine Bittle, O. M. Cap., author of "Soldiering for Cross and Flag," will write the history of St. Joseph province of the Roman Catholic church, which takes in the territory from New York to North and South Dakota. The work will involve an intensive search of the diocesan archives and will extend over a long period of time. Father Celestine, who has been stationed at the Capuchin monastery on Lawrence-st for the past few years, left recently to begin his new work.

LEADERS' SCHOOL TO OPEN OCT. 13

Classes Will Be Held at Lawrence College; Dr. Denyes Is Dean

The Fox river valley church school leaders' training course will open Oct. 13, at Lawrence college and continue for ten weeks, according to announcement by George F. Werner, secretary of the Church School Superintendent's club. Dr. J. R. Denyes again will be dean of the school.

Preliminary work for the school already has been completed, while the faculty list will be announced soon. Dr. Denyes and the Rev. E. F. Franz, the latter president of the church school superintendent's club, are ex-officio members of all committees.

Teaching staff committee: George F. Werner, the Rev. R. A. Garrison, the Rev. F. C. Reuter, Miss Esther Miller and the Rev. W. W. Sloan.

Publicity committee: The Rev. E. Hasselblad, E. L. Madisen, John Trautman, Irene Parsons, L. A. Buchman and F. B. Younger.

Instructors named to date are Young People Materials and Methods, the Rev. Charles J. Fritz, Neenah; Old Testament, Dr. J. R. Denyes; Church History, Dr. J. L. Holmes; and Missions, the Rev. W. W. Sloan.

WERNER IS NAMED TO CRIME STUDY GROUP

Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner received word last week and he had been appointed a member of a state wide committee of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work to study crime and criminal justice. The appointment was made by Francis E. McGovern, chairman of the social work group. The investigations and workings of the committee will be divided into five sections, each section being handled by a sub-committee. These sub-committees will study detention and apprehension; facilities; probation and parole; criminal procedure; and treatment. Judge Werner will serve on the sub committee on facilities.

South Carolina's $65,000,000 road building program has brought work to 900 men.

Expect Demand for Adult Education Will Be Greater Than Ever This Year

Because of the need for continuing education, and for periodic adjustment to new conditions, the demand for adult training at Appleton Vocational school is expected to be greater this year than in former years, according to Herb Heilig, director. Many courses for adults will again be offered this fall, and registration days will be Sept. 22, 23 and 24, Mr. Heilig stated. Courses will open Oct. 6.

Last year 71 units of work were offered. Courses offered were in varied fields, including homemaking, commercial, trade, industry and others in the field of general improvement.

"For many years people labored under an ideal that the period of learning was confined to the period of youth," Mr. Heilig stated in discussing the demand for adult education. "Certainly the American school system was built on the idea that education was to be given during the period of youth, and schools were erected and funds established for the training of children.

"Later higher schools of learning were established which provided educational opportunity to young men and women, but even this was preparatory to their taking their place in life. All education was preparatory for an already predetermined life need.

"All this was based on the idea that civilization was static. Dr. Kilpatrick of Columbia university has clearly demonstrated in a recent book that the most constant thing in life today is change. Even if we could prepare in youth for adult life it would be difficult to determine what requirements would be placed upon adults, 20, 30 or 40 years from now," Mr. Heilig stated.

"Adults throughout the country are clamoring for further education, and the demand is being met by the vocational schools in the country, through evening classes," he stated.

NINE PROBATE CASES LISTED FOR HEARING

Nine probate cases are listed for hearing at a special term of Outagamie-co court which will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning before Judge Fred V. Heinemann at the courthouse. Cases on the calendar include: hearing on proof of will in the estate of Otto Wilhelm Neumann; Hearing on claims in the estates of Theresa Roehl, Anna E. Murphy, Peter Mueller, Mary Sigl and Mary Sexton; hearing on final account in the estates of Evelyn Grunst Rennhack, Mary Kettenhofen and Henrietta Sutliff.

INSTALL 163 PLUMBING FIXTURES IN AUGUST

A total of 163 fixtures were added to the Appleton plumbing system during August, acording to the monthly report of George Gauslin, plumbing inspector. Mr. Gauslin made 127 inspections during the month, and issued 24 permits for the opening of trenches for the installation or repair of service from mains to property.

FINISH PLANS FOR STYLE SHOW PARADE

Auto Dealers Draw for Positions in Parade on Thursday Afternoon

Plans for the fall opening parade at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon were completed last week by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce committee in charge. It was reported that local merchants were cooperating 100 per cent in the opening.

Plans for the parade formation also were completed. Automobile dealers drew for placement in the parade which is to form at the intersection of Park and College-ave. Chief George T. Prim will lead the procession.

Following is the order in which cars of various dealers will appear. Curtis Motor Sales, Appleton Hudson Co., Berry Motor Co., Kobussen Auto Co., Pirie Motor Car Co., Auburn Motor Co., Kaufman Service Garage, Wolter Motor Co., Wagner Sales and Service Co., Satterstrom Chevrolet Co., Hilligan Nash Co., August Brandt, Co., Hermann Motor Co., O. R. Kloehn Co., Central Motor Car Co., and Winberg Motors, Inc.

Each dealer is to be permitted to enter three cars in the parade. No trucks will be displayed. The parade will form at 1:50 Thursday afternoon. All cars are to have display cards similar to those used in the last parade, the committee decided.

Unknown Driver's Car Killed John Meiers, Jury Finds

MAN WALKING WHEN STRUCK, DOCTOR SAYS

Passenger in Auto Which Found Meiers Claims Vehicle Did Not Touch Body

John Meiers, 69, of Grand Chute, came to his death as result of injuries received when struck by an automobile driven by an unknown person, a coroner's jury decided Saturday afternoon after a hearing at the city hall.

The jury was called at request of relatives of the dead man, the testimony being taken by Stanley Staidl, district attorney, with Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, county coroner, presiding.

Meiers was found on the N. Bennett-st extension in the town of Grand Chute, about 9 o'clock Sunday evening, Aug. 31, after a car driven by Mrs. Ed. Sambs, Grand Chute, and occupied by John Erickson, Grand Chute, a daughter of Mrs. Sambs and another relative had straddled the man who, Erickson testified, was not touched by the wheels of the car.

The injured man was placed in the Sambs car, then transferred to the ambulance when a police officer arrived and taken to the hospital where he was found to have suffered a concussion of the brain, first degree lacerations about the head and lacerations about the body. He died Wednesday night.

Dr. W. O. Dehne, the attending physician testified as to the condition of Mr. Meiers when he was called in on the case and of the man's death, stating that the head injuries probably caused death and that the man may have suffered internal injuries.

After other witnesses had been heard the doctor was recalled and told the jury Mr. Meiers must have been struck while standing up, that the injuries could not have been made if the man had been lying in the road and a car gone over him, the wheels passing over his body.

Mr. Meiers was struck by a fender, the doctor said he believed, the head injuries being caused by the body being thrown against the car. In answer to a question of whether Mr. Meiers might have been intoxicated, Dr. Dehne said he smelled no alcohol on the man's breath and there was none in his stomach.

Two young ladies residing in the town of Grand Chute testified they saw a man walking on N. Bennett-st just before the accident and said they believed he was intoxicated.

John Erickson, Grand Chute, testified he was riding with Mrs. Ed. Sambs, her small daughter and her brother the night of the accident and that as they drove north on N. Bennett-st extension he saw an object in the road. No attention was paid to it because it looked like something thrown in the road, he said. As the car passed over the object without the wheels touching it, Erickson said he noticed it was a man, had Mrs. Sambs stop the car and got out to examine it. He then recited events relative to taking the man to the hospital, reporting to the police and sheriff's office.

That he saw a man lying in the road on N. Bennett-st extension when he stopped at the Wisconsin-ave arterial and that he saw the Sambs car pass over the body, the wheels passing over the man, was the testimony of Robert Velie, another witness.

He said the body lay diagonally across the road which conflicted with Erickson's testimony that it lay on the side of the road with the head north. A third witness said when he saw the body after the accident the head was pointing south. Velie was driving a car which followed the Sambs car down the street.

The fact that two witnesses said they saw the man lying in the road and the fact the doctor said the man's injuries occurred by being struck while standing up, prompted the coroner's jury to return the verdict that Meiers was struck by a car the driver is unknown, the inference being that perhaps he was hit while walking along the road by a car which did not stop.

Mrs. Sambs, driver of the car in which Erickson was riding and which Velie claimed drove over the man's body, was not called upon to testify.

WOMAN CLAIMS CHUTE RECORD IN CANADA

Toronto—(AP)— Undaunted by the experience of dangling helplessly from the wing of an airplane, 9,000 feet in the air when her parachute fouled, Miss Storrow made a second leap and today claimed the Canadian women's jump record.

The first time she went up and leaped yesterday her parachute caught on the wing of the plane. Pilot William Van Sickle saw her plight and Perry McGovern, the observer, crawled out on the wing of the plane and rescued her.

After landing Miss Storrow decided to make another attempt. This time she leaped at 5,000 feet. This jump exceeded the women's Canadian parachute record by several hundred feet but was unofficial.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL READY FOR OPENING

Everything has been put into readiness for the opening of Appleton Vocational school at 8 o'clock next Monday morning, according to Herb Heilig, director. The entire building, exterior and interior, has been thoroughly repaired, renovated and redecorated for the opening, Mr. Heilig reports.

Painters this week finished painting all the corridor floors and woodwork. Floors in most rooms have been revarnished.

200 CONFIRMED AT ST. JOSEPH CHURCH

Over 200 school children and adults were confirmed at a service at St. Joseph church Sunday afternoon. The ceremony was conducted by Bishop Paul P. Rhode of Green Bay, who holds a confirmation service only once in two years in each church in the diocese.

GOVERNOR CHARGES PROGRESSIVES WITH DISTORTING TRUTH

Kohler Claims LaFollette Campaigners Are Changing Figures

Milwaukee — "Two more gross misrepresentations must now be added to the already long list chargeable to Madison Ring politicians in this campaign," Gov. Walter J. Kohler declared in a speech here today.

"To one who is not closely associated with a political campaign it will be incredible that men of presumable honor and integrity would distort, stretch or misrepresent truth to attain their ends.

"I for one, do not propose to win public office by tactics of that kind. Yet within the last few days a United States senator and ex-governor of Wisconsin has publicly issued figures which he could not help but know were grossly misleading and misrepresentative of the true facts," he continued.

"First, it was charged that receipts from state taxes during the past fiscal year were $6,500,000 more than they were in 1928—a statement which is one part truth and nine parts falsehood, since the difference was due not to an increase in taxes by $6,500,000, but to a change in the date of paying which threw 1928 receipts into the fiscal year 1929. Thus by a change in book-keeping practice, receipts for 1928 were less than one-sixth of normal, and it was this abnormal figure that the senator used in basing his misleading charge.

"For an ex-governor and senator of the United States to stoop to such tactics will, to decent citizens, be an incomprehensible thing.

QUOTES FIGURES

"But this is not all," Governor Kohler continued. "It was charged furthermore that capital expenditures for charitable and penal institutions were less during my administration than under preceding administrations of Wisconsin government. The true facts as revealed by the director of the budget are that capital appropriations for charitable and penal purposes during the last four bienniums were as follows:

1925	777,350
1929	890,000

"Thus it will be seen that under my administration appropriations to aid the charitable and penal charges of the state were substantially higher than under three preceding administrations, the average of which was $677,513 as compared to $890,000 appropriated by the last legislature, an increase in excess of 30 per cent.

Vacation Ends As 5,000 Children Start School

Decked out in new shoes, starched blouses and dresses, and carrying long, new sharp-pointed pencils in their fists and an excited lump in their throats, approximately 5,000 Appleton youngsters tripped back to school this morning, after three months of freedom from the cares of education.

No enrollment figures are yet obtainable, but it is probable there will be the usual increase in all schools The advance enrollment at the high school on Saturday was 1,051. All seats and standing room in the assembly hall were taken at the general assembly this morning but no estimate could be made of the number actually in the room.

All public schools, including the crippled children and vocational schools, and six parochial schools, St. Mary, St. Therese, Sacred Heart, Zion Lutheran, St. Mathew and St. Paul, opened Monday morning. St. Joseph school started its school year last Tuesday.

Varnished and cleaned within an inch of their lives, all school buildings in the city shone like new dollars Monday morning—until the tramp, tramp of hundreds of youthful feet speckled the mirror-like floors with footprints.

All public school buildings were thoroughly cleaned from cellar to attic, floors sanded, varnished and waxed, windows washed, and rooms redecorated. Six hundred desks and 150 chairs were refinished during the summer months, and mops, paintbrushes and sanding machines were kept busy all summer. Some of the larger improvements in the public school system included new boilers at First Ward school, new boys' showers at the high school, and weather striping at Wilson junior high school.

MARTIAL LAW REIGNS

Martial law continued in force here today.

Those already arrested include the former minister of interior, Elpidio Gonzales, the former minister of foreign affairs, Horacio Oyahanote; the former Irigoyen senator, Louis Molinari; the former director of the mails, Ammallo; the former directors of railroads, Claps; the former chief of police traffic, Sturla; the old friend of President Irigoyen's, Scarlato; and the former Irigoyen deputy, Bidegeain.

The three last named are accused of directing the "Klann radical," a group held responsible for the firing from the crowd on the cadets in the Plaza Congreso Saturday. Irigoyen was imprisoned in a military barracks. Guards about the place professed to be there to prevent any of the populace, which two years ago returned him to office by an overwhelming vote, to harm him.

Irigoyen resigned Friday evening under a constitutional provision which would permit his return to office at his pleasure. His powers were merely delegated to Dr. Enrique Martinez, vice president. The populace, students particularly, considered the retirement merely an artifice and Saturday morning troops mutinied to enforce their demand for actual resignation. The navy joined them and the movement, headed by eGneral Uriburu, by nightfall had the city under control.

A white flag was run up at government house. Severe fighting occurred in front of the government newspaper, La Epoca. The paper was burned by the mob. About 20 were killed in the fighting and more than 100 wounded. President Irigoyen signed his resignation, and General Uriburu formed a new cabinet, a civil body, composed principally of members of the old opposition.

Uriburu was named head of the new provisional government which announced as its purpose improvement of economic conditions in the country and a more representative government than that of the administration just past.

NEW YORK GANGSTER ON WAY BACK TO U. S.

Berlin—(AP)—Jack (Legs) Diamond, New York gangster, was on his way home today from Hamburg on the freighter Hanover, placed there by German police who could not find a passenger ship which would take him.

Before leaving Germany, Diamond took a parting shot at the police by entering a claim for damages for false arrest. The American gangster charged the arrest was "harmful to my credit," and he demanded that he be compensated for his detention.

In addition to restitution for the time he was jailed Diamond is asking restitution of the money it cost him to travel from America.

FIND TEACHER'S BODY IN FOOTBALL STADIUM

Greeley, Colo.—(AP)—The body of Miss Alice Johnson, 40, member of the faculty of the Colorado State Teachers' college, missing since Friday, was found yesterday with a bullet wound in the head, in the Jackson Field stadium.

A .32 caliber pistol was found beside the body. The coroner said all evidence pointed to suicide. Miss Johnson, University of Chicago graduate, was born in Memphis. She is survived by three sisters, Sue Johnson of Memphis, Frankie Johnson, of Pasadena, and Esta Johnson of Nashville, Tenn.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses have been issued by John E. Hantschel, county clerk to Ervin W. Fisch and Helen Rose Uhnland, both of Appleton; George Peotter and Lucy Sell, both of Appleton; Andrew F. Wickeham, Menasha and Rose E. Bruehl, Appleton.

DEATHS

W. S. SMITH

William S. Smith, 73, a resident of Appleton for the past 35 years, died at 3:30 Sunday afternoon from peritonitis, after an illness of only a few days. Mr. Smith, who had been in good health until he was taken ill last Wednesday, had played golf on Tuesday.

Mr. Smith had been an active member and trustee of Memorial Presbyterian church for years, and served as a member of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. Born in Milwaukee, he came to Appleton at the age of five years. He spent his boyhood here, returning to Appleton after a number of years in school and in the banking business in North Dakota.

Survivors are one daughter, Janet, at home; one son, Stewart, New York; two brothers, A. M. Smith, Appleton, and Robert L. Piedmont, Calif.; and two sisters, Marian Smith and Mrs. Walter Johnson, Appleton.

The body will be taken from the Schommer Funeral home to the residence Tuesday morning. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the home at 714 E. Alton-st.

ARMY WORKER HERE TO GO TO SCHOOL

Miss Frances Mae Wing, local Salvation Army worker, will leave next Wednesday for Salvation Army training garrison at Chicago where she will take a training course of ten months. At the end of that time she will be a lieutenant. She has been affiliated with the local post for the past seven years. There will be a public farewell meeting at 8 o'clock Sunday night at Salvation Army hall.

SEEK REDUCTION OF 28 PER CENT IN WATER BILLS

Waterworks Commission Asks State to Sanction Reduced Charges

A revision of water rates resulting in a reduction of 23 per cent to the smaller consumers on the actual amount of water used, based on last year's consumption figures, was requested by the Appleton water commission at a hearing before the Wisconsin Railroad commission in the city hall here this morning.

If granted, the proposed rates will save the small consumer five cents per cubic foot as soon as the new rate becomes effective, but the large consumer will not benefit by the change unless he uses the capacity indicated by his service demand. For instance, the owner of a four-inch meter will not realize the reduction until he uses 17,000 cubic feet of water quarterly or more.

The object of the revision of rates, as presented by C. A. Seifert, auditor, is to cut down the excess profits of the water commission, give the small consumer lower rates, and at the same time equalize the cost to the large consumer so he will pay a rate more in conformity with the owner of the small meter.

Mr. Seifert and J. Plank, chairman of the water commission, presented an elaborate array of figures to show that the profits of the water commission entitles it to a total decrease of $17,000 in annual income With the increased income of $5,000 from fire protection charge effective since Jan. 1, 1930, and an estimated $2,000 increase in service charge to the large consumer, the commission estimates the 23 per cent output reduction will bring them a decrease in revenue of at least $12,000.

While the fire protection charge has been raised about $5,000, this increase is not made for the purpose of reducing the rate to private consumers. The fire protection charge has been unreasonably low for some years, according to Mr. Seifert, and should have been raised to an equitable figure before. The figure suggested at Monday's hearing is several thousand dollars lower per year than it should be, said Mr. Seifert, but since all units of service are to benefit from the revision of rates fire protection was given its share of reduction as well.

The schedule of figures presented was so arranged that if the commission at the end of one or two years discovers its profit is still excessive, it can select a lower rate without another examination by the railroad commission

At present the service charge nets $32,160.40, the consumption charge $84,809 36, and the five protection charge, $34,000. The optional rate proposed fixes the service charge to net $34,348, the consumption charge at $66,017.10, and the fire protection charge at $39,904.30.

A. R. MacDonald, of the railway commission who conducted the hearing, complimented the Appleton water commission on the complete and detailed statement presented to the commissioners.

Charge Three Youths With Stealing Gate Receipts

School bells, announcing the opening of the fall term tolled in vain Monday morning for two Clintonville youths and one from Oconto, who are sitting in their cells in the Clintonville police station awaiting their preliminary hearing on charges of stealing $125. The boys are, 16, 17, and 19, years old, respectively.

The three youths, it is alleged Sunday afternoon took $125, the gate receipts of the Clintonville-Marion baseball game, from the automobile of Henry Weller, Clintonville, treasurer of the Wolf River Valley baseball league.

One of the youths about two weeks ago acquired a key for the locked machine, and was the leader of the party, it is reported. Mr. Weller had placed the money bag in his car and then went back to the park to watch the finish of the game.

The trio was picked up here about 10 30 Sunday evening by Officer Albert Deltgen, when they arrived here at the Chicago and Northwestern depot by train. Appleton police were notified by the Clintonville department, shortly after the money was found missing.

They were sent back to Clintonville late Sunday night where they were lodged in the station. All of the money but $20 was found in the trio's possession.

C. OF C. OFFICERS TALK TO ROTARIANS

Three officials of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will speak at the meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon. H. A. Schlintz, president of the chamber, will be the principal speaker, with Arthur Geniesse, chairman of the retail trades division and W. E Smith, chairman of the rural affairs committee, assisting him.

Police here have been asked to watch for a Buick sedan, 1927 model and painted blue, which was stolen from in front of 620 S. Story-st, Sunday evening. The car is owned by Frank Oskey, Seymour, and was taken while the man had it parked in front of the residence there.

FIND THIRD BODY OF ANDREE GROUP

Stockholm—(AP)—The frozen northern wastes of White Island, or Hvitoen, haven given up another body, presumably that of the third member of the Andree balloon expedition of 1897.

A party of journalists aboard the sealing vessel Isbjoern, excited at discoveries of the crew of the Bratvaag on the island and hurrying there themselves, managed to land there Saturday and seek out relics of the ill-fated expedition which Dr. Gunnar Horn and his associates left behind.

The skeleton found was presumed to be that of Knut Frankel, third member of the Andree group, who, is generally had been believed, died enroute to White Island from the spot where the balloon, in which they wished to cross the north pole, came down. The crew of the Bratvaag found only two bodies. A group of bones they believed to be the remains of the third man turned out to be a polar bear's bones.

In addition to the third skeleton the Isbjoern party found a number of other things left by the Andree expedition of 33 years ago, including scientific instruments, weapons, pieces of the basket below the Andree balloon and Frankel's notebooks. They said the camp was in excellent order. They believed the explorers died from a sudden catastrophe, such as a blizzard.

Advices of discovery of the third body probably will lead to postponement of the Memorial service planned for the three until it is known for certain that the body is that of Frankel. The Swedish warship Svenskund will wait at Tromsoe for the Isbjoern, which must travel slowly because of motor trouble.

PUT OUT GRASS FIRE

The fire department answered a call to Alicia park at 6:30 Saturday night to extinguish a grass fire, which endangered buildings in the park. The blaze was put out with the aid of brooms and chemicals.

BOSCH RADIO

The sensitivity and selectivity of the new Bosch Radio is the outstanding achievement in 1930 radio. It is an engineering triumph that assures not only quick, positive tuning, but true, life-like, harmonious reception from every station that you dial, whether the high or low wave lengths — Bosch Radio has ample power for every occasion. The new models have a larger electrodynamic speaker. See and hear Bosch Radio before buying any radio. The Bosch Radio Model A, illustrated, is an eight-tube receiver, four tubes of which are screen-grid. The cabinet is of finely matched woods — a quality radio at a new low price — $144.50, less tubes. Other eight and nine-tube Bosch Radios up to $250, less tubes.

NEW FEDERAL BANK HEAD IS HEARTILY APPROVED IN STREET

Wall Street Leaders Believe Eugene Meyer, Jr., Was Good Appointment

BY PRESTON S. KRECKER

Copyright, 1930 by Cons. Press

New York —(CPA)— Selection of Eugene Meyer, Jr., as governor of the federal reserve board to succeed Roy A. Young, resigned to become governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, is welcomed widely by Wall Street bankers. So cordial, indeed, is their endorsement of President Hoover's choice that it is doubtful whether the appointment of any other banker would have given greater satisfaction in the financial district.

That approval is not based on personal popularity of the appointee in New York banking circles. In fact Mr. Meyer has been more or less out of touch with Wall Street for some time. The men who endorse him as head of the reserve system are hard-headed bankers who believe he will make a capable leader of the banking business of the country. It is believed in particular that he will put into effect banking policies which New York bankers approve. In a word, Mr. Meyer is expected to reflect the Wall Street banking point of view.

It is well known that the point of view frequently has been at variance with the Washington view under former administrations of the Federal reserve system.

DIDN'T AGREE

Especially were the policies in effect during the critical financial times of last year objectionable to Wall Street bank executives. Those policies were exemplified in refusal to permit the New York Reserve bank to raise its discount rate from 5 per cent to 6 per cent for many months, when Wall Street bankers were almost unanimous in feeling that such action should have been taken long before it eventually was.

New York bankers, secondly, thought the reserve board erred in order to make or maintain speculative loans regardless of stringency in the money market. In effect that policy meant that banks were not entitled to exercise the discount privilege if they were loaning funds in the stock market.

So strongly did some bankers feel that the board was exceeding its authority in adopting that attitude that they eventually openly rebelled against it to prevent a possible Wall Street panic. That was in the memorable tight money market of March, 1929. It may be recalled that on March 26 call money went to 20 per cent in Wall Street, the highest rate since 1920. Banks had plenty of funds but they were afraid to lend them on the stock exchange in defiance of the federal reserve board.

CAUSED SELLING

As an outcome Wall Street had an 8,250,000 share day, up to that time the largest in history. Liquidation swept over the market and sent more than 300 issues crashing to new lows for the year.

In the crisis Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, electrified Wall Street with an offer of $52,000,000 to lend distressed stock traders. Although that action was regarded by some as openly flouting the reserve board, the market was saved. Money dropped to 15 per cent, stocks rallied, disaster was averted.

Aside, however, from a feeling that Mr. Meyer's views are sound, Wall Street bankers believe he is personally qualified to fill the job of directing the federal reserve system. They comment that he has a good mental equipment, that he has a strong individuality not easily swayed if he thinks he is right and finally, that he is industrious. By training he is believed to be well fitted for the post. He was in private banking business for years until he became head of the war finance corporation. He is therefore familiar with banking. As head of the federal farm loan board, moreover, he familiarized himself with agricultural problems of the country.

$126,000 PAID TO PUPILS IN AWARDS

Madison—(AP)—University of Wisconsin students received loans and scholarship awards last year from a fund of more than $126,000, M. E. McCaffrey, secretary of the board of regents, announced today.

He points out that the fund has grown more than 25 times the original size of one fund in 1876. It now has 40 groups and represents exactly $126,392.56. The monies are disbursed under direction of Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men and director of the summer session, who has charge of loans and Prof. Julius E. Olson, chairman of the loans and scholarship committee.

Of the total last year, approximately $55,000 was given in loans to students. More than 1,000 undergraduates took advantage of the opportunities to borrow money. Incidently, Mr. McCaffrey reports the credit of the student's is "excellent."

Dean Goodnight says women are more loathe to borrow from the funds than men.

"Women students are not inclined to assume the responsibility for a debt that they are not sure of being able to pay back," Dean Goodnight says. "Men, however, are quite confident that they can meet the obligations."

The oldest fund is the John A. Johnson fund, established in 1876. It amounted to $5,000 and with accumulated interest today totals $32,237.12, from which $1,500 is let out to students each year. Another large trust is the Thomas J. Marston fund of $22,551.94, which was established in 1925.

Nye Promises To Give Details In Shadow Case

Wittenberg—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota, spending a day in this village with his boyhood friends, 'took time out' late Friday to discuss the controversy between himself, and Mrs. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for the United States senate in Illinois, whose expenditures in the primary are being investigated by the senate elections committee headed by Senator Nye.

G. P. NYE

The nation was astonished recently when Mrs. McCormick freely admitted that she had employed the Dannenberg Detective agency to investigate Senator Nye. Mrs. McCormick declared that she was acting in self-defense, and pointed to the fact that her offices had been ransacked, valuable records taken, that her telephone wire had been tapped, and she intimated that it was agents of the Nye committee that had done it.

INVESTIGATORS HERE

With Mrs. McCormick's charges in mind, Senator Nye was asked whether or not his committee employs detectives.

"Well," he replied, "it isn't fair to call them detectives. They are investigators. When we receive a complaint, the investigators are sent to that community to determine whether or not it is worth the time of the committee to go there. They come in openly and without any attempt to conceal their identity. They make inquiries and determine what they think can be developed and then report to the committee. Later after the committee comes into the state, if there is additional information needed they continue their work. For example, it may be admitted that a certain amount of money was spent in a certain county, but it is indicated that the expenditures were much more. The investigators will be sent to that county to develop the facts and thus conserve the time of the committee members."

"Are you sure then," Senator Nye was asked, "that it was not your agents that entered Mrs. McCormick's home and ransacked her office?"

"That charge is utterly preposterous," the senator replied. "Why should any one from our committee go to Mrs. McCormick's office to get some records? What would we do with them? We couldn't use them. Our investigators are instructed to be honest, open and honorable in all of their investigations!"

"You don't doubt that her house was entered?" the senator was asked.

A little smile played about the senator's lips as he replied, "When W. C. Dannenberg, Mrs. McCormick's detective was on the stand the other day in Chicago, I asked him where he was on the night of that raid?"

VOUCHERS MISSING

"Why should Mrs. McCormick's detective enter her home?"

"We have been informed that many of the cancelled checks, and vouchers that may be wanted to determine the exact amount of expenditures in the Illinois election will not be available to the committee because they were lost in that raid."

"What was your reaction, Senator, when you discovered that Mrs. McCormick had detectives following you?"

"It was one of considerable surprise," he replied, "but the surprise disappeared when I discovered the line the investigation was taking. But I cannot discuss that. It would be extremely unfair to the committee to do so at this time. However, there is nothing I would rather do than to detail the entire story for the people of the country. It will all be brought out before the senate and it will be one of the most interesting detective stories, ever published," he added with a laugh.

A statement by Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, yesterday in which he said that the detectives now figuring in the investigation added an "off color note" and that the committee should determine the fact, adding, "I am not interested in detectives, and I think the senate is not interested," captured Senator Nye's interest.

"As to Senator Borah's statement, I wish to say, for the general public and other members of the senate not members of the investigating committee, that the senate will utimately be informed of facts that will show conclusively the close relationship between our investigations of elections and the detectives," he said. "There are certain facts which cannot be made public at this time, which will however, be brought out fully before the senate"

LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON

Senator and Mrs Nye were to leave this morning for Washington. Senator Nye will return to Chicago, Sept. 15 to resume the investigation of the Illinois primary election law. Senator Nye was enjoying his stay in Wittenberg thoroughly. While there the Nyes were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Meiser. Mr. Meiser and Senator Nye were schoolmates and graduated from the Wittenberg high school together. Fifteen years ago both men left Wittenberg to take up their residence in North Dakota. Mr. Meiser however, returned to Wittenberg, while Nye stayed on in Cooperstown, N. D.

Yesterday the village of Wittenberg was all agogy over the prensence of its distinguished guest. The Meisers and Nyes attended the Shawano county fair at Shawano during the afternoon and in the evening the business men of Wittenberg gathered at the village hotel as members of the Lions club to receive Senator Nye as their guest.

Most of the business men of Wittenberg recall the senator as a boyhood friend, and they speak of him as Gerald, forgetful of the dignity of his senatorial toga.

CONDITIONS HAVE NOT IMPROVED, BUT ATTITUDE BETTER

Producer Is Convinced He Will Get Enough to Eat This Winter

Kansas City —(C. P. A.)— While the basic conditions of the farm country have not materially changed since the deflation of price levels set in, the attitude of the producer is showing a much improved morale. He has become convinced that after all he is not going to starve and that there is on the whole considerable output of foodstuffs to carry him through the winter.

A motor trip this week through northeast Kansas, northern Missouri, and southern Iowa reveals that there is much greater yield of corn in that section than had been popularly considered. Rough feed is abundant over a great portion of the area east of the sixth principal meridian, which cuts Nebraska and Kansas half way east and west, and livestock interests are filling silos and storing every possible ton of feed. At the same time they are buying feeder cattle cheaper than in many years and apparently have a chance for a fair profit.

An undercurrent of the apprehension at to what is to be the future of corporation farming is evident in the southwest states. The Republican stata convention this week denounced this method of production as dangerous to the state, both economically and socially, and declared in favor of legislation prohibiting such financial institutions. At the same time there is going on an intensive campaign of stock selling by several concerns and increased acreage of wheat is being made ready for sowing.

While estimates are for 5 to 7 per cent less acreage in the southwest, nobody knows at this time how much will be planted—it will depend on the soil conditions a month hence. A delayed frost and plenty of rain are now most needed in the interior to give a fair basis for carrying though the winter and getting a start on the next year's harvest.

RURAL PUPILS AGAIN TO RECEIVE IODINE

Treatment to Prevent Goitre Will Be Tried Again for Third Year

Pupils enrolled in the Outagamie-co rural schools will again this year receive the iodine treatment for the prevention of goitre. Each week each students is given one chocolate iodine tablet. The tablets are easy to eat and the administration is carried out by the teachers who receive their supplies of iodine tablets from Miss Marie Klein, county nurse. The tablets contain only a very small amount of iodine but it is sufficient to offset almost entirely any new attacks of goitre. The amount of iodine in each tablet is the amount normally found in drinking water but in Outagamie-co this essential is lacking. This is the third year the goitre treatment has been tried in Outagamie-co. The tablets are paid for by an appropriation of $600 made by the county board three years ago. Before children are given the iodine tablets they must have received the consent of their parents. The goitre prevention treatment as carried out in Outagamie-co is recommended by the state board of health.

SYNOD WILL ACT ON OUSTING OF PASTOR

Iron Ridge —(AP)— The action of a synod meeting in Milwaukee Sept. 16 will determine whether the congregation of the German Lutheran church here will oust the Rev. John Henning, pastor, because he refused communion to American Legion members.

In a closed session called to consider the recommendation of the church board, communicants declined to take final action.

The congregation agreed that the question of refusing communion to Legionaires because of their religious rituals is not a matter of public concern, and agreed to give out nothing on the meeting, but several members told reporters what had occurred.

2 Glasses Water, Not Too Cold, Help Constipation

One glass water is not enough — take 2 glasses a half hour before breakfast. You get quicker and better results by adding a little simple glycerin, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika) to one glass.

Unlike other remedies, Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old poisons you never thought were in your system. Adlerika stops GAS and sour stomach in 10 minutes! Relieves constipation in 2 hours. Voigt's Drug Store, Schlintz Bros. Co. adv.

AUDIENCE TO BE GIVEN OWN CHOICE

Actress Will Permit People to Choose Play She Will Appear in

BY WARD MOREHOUSE

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—(AP)—Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske will soon begin a tour of eastern and middle western cities appering in such items of a seven-play repertory as her audiences select. This is the announcement of George C. Tyler, who, convinced that the star's followers know in which roles she is likely to please them most, has invited them to name them.

Several weeks in advance of Mrs Fiske's appearance, there will be submitted to theater patrons of each city of the itinerary a list of her plays. From this list they may select, by popular ballot, their choices. Mrs. Fiske's repertory is made up of "Ladies of the Jury," "Becky Sharp," "Vanity Fair," "Miss Nelly of N'Orleans," "Erstwhile Susan," "Mrs. Bumpsteadleigh," "Hay Fever" and "Ghosts."

Her tour opens in Princeton, N. J., October 1, and will take her as far west as the Twin Cities, Kansas City and St. Louis, with earlier engagements along the Atlantic seaboard.

Colleen Moore's play, "On The Loose," opens in Rochester Oct. 3, Arch Selwyn announces.

"To Please a Lady," the Basil Rathbone play, will open in Washington Nov. 10. Ann Andrews is the leading lady and others hired are Fred Kerr, Montague Love and A. P. Kaye.

THE FIGHT TO THE SOUTH OF US

It is easy enough to believe Senator Nye who in his special interview in the Post-Crescent tonight denies the likelihood of the committee operatives or private detectives being the felons who shortly after his committee went into Illinois to investigate Mrs. McCormick broke into that woman's home, rummaged and scattered about her personal belongings and stole her letters and memoranda. But it is just as wrong for Senator Nye to imply that detectives employed by Mrs. McCormick to shadow the shadowers may themselves have been the burglars and for the purpose of excusing Mrs. McCormick from bringing before the committee checks and stubs and letters that might incriminate her. Upon the facts presented so far it must be a draw in the public eye because no one can very well judge where the truth lies. But one question however arises supreme out of this welter of confusion and points a finger directly at the Nye committee and says: what were you doing in Illinois previous to the time that a senator is elected?

The senate has the right to pass upon the election of its members and if an election has been obtained improperly to refuse to seat such senator-elect. Plainly enough it has the right to appoint a committee to seek and take evidence concerning the manner of election of any senator-elect. Until a senator has actually been elected and the senator-elect is rapping on the senate doors for admission what is there to investigate? Obviously, nothing. The use of the Nye committee as a political weapon in the election seems pretty plain. And this charge of Mrs. McCormick is strengthened by the fact that Senator Nye is one of those Republicans who spends his time in the senate voting with the southern Democrats and doing about as much as he can to disrupt the Republican party. Had Mrs. McCormick been a Socialist, a muckraker or something else masquerading as a Republican, would the Nye committee have hastened to Illinois to take up the scent?

For this committee to hold meetings, take evidence, much of it of a hearsay and untrustworthy nature, will only tend to create confusion and turmoil during the election, compel Mrs. McCormick to leave the stump for its hearings, take her out of the election when she belongs on the firing line, with the sole purpose of attacking her primary campaign and trying that matter out in the general election whereas, if she is elected, it should be tried out before the senate. The senate certainly has no authority to enter into an election for any such purpose.

The charges made on both sides tend to show the bad situations that may be created by the employment of private detectives in political contests and though Mr. Nye may style his employes as "operatives" that is only for the purpose of relieving them of the stigma generally attached to private detectives. When Harry Daugherty was attorney general he inaugurated the practice of shadowing those who were politically obnoxious to him but, bad as Daugherty was, he did not stoop to the use of private detectives and was satisfied with department of justice operatives, at least men whose records and characters were investigated before they entered the service so that some credence might be put in their word and some confidence reposed in their methods of operation.

It is more than likely that further action by the Nye committee will help Mrs. McCormick. The people are getting pretty tired of abuse, vilification and general mudslinging in our campaigns and when Mrs. McCormick claims, as she will, that her opponents have added house-breaking to the political campaign in order to terrorize her she is likely to attract more support than she loses and people are likely to believe her although there is no genuine evidence to support her charge.

Had Senator Nye distinguished clearly in his mind the fact that his committee has judicial work ahead of it, that of determining whether a certain person was properly elected a senator in Illinois, and that it is no part of the work of his committee to make up its mind whether Mrs. McCormick would be suitable for senatorial honors, he would have kept out of the Illinois campaign, collected evidence in the meantime but held no meetings until after the election had been determined by the people of that state.

THE STRANGE CASE OF VIRGINIA DARE

"On the bleak and rockbound coast" of Virginia there landed over three hundred and thirty years ago a small number of colonists, the first English to come to America with the purpose of making it their home. Within a short time there was born on this continent the first child of English speaking parents. She was named Virginia Dare. Left to themselves in the wilds of a strange and inhospitable country the colony did not survive for long. When other boats came they found the little habitation wiped out but a legend grew up that the little Virginia had not been slain with the others but was adopted by the Indians and taken off through the forests into Carolina, a legend that persisted for generations, supported now and then by the evidence of white blood among those tribes. But Virginia herself was never found and what really happened to her no one accurately knows.

After the passage of generations there appeared upon the market in this country a light wine thought to be suitable to the taste of those who shrank from the use of much alcohol for it contained only five or six per cent of fire and was sweet to the taste. It was called Virginia Dare Wine but it had a precarious existence for it was not popular for womankind to use intoxicants, even mild ones, and those who would drink such things in public were frowned upon. Still it managed to survive, selling itself for about seventy-five cents a quart and never killing anyone. And then it came to pass that prohibition was adopted so that Virginia became an outcast but she sought to survive by reducing the alcoholic content to one-half of one per cent and inviting the purchaser to pour in something from that flask on his hip. This operation did not seem to succeed very well and in a short time Virginia faded out of the picture and died.

But Virginia was really not dead, merely slumbering like that namesake in the far off Virginia forests, and shortly she appeared in a new guise, not as wine, to be sure, despicable liquid, but as Virginia Dare Tonic, and no longer with the mildness of a five or six per cent alcoholic content because under prohibition that had ceased to be popular. Virginia shot up the alcoholic content to twenty per cent and Virginia developed some kick. She is no longer the pretty, demure, prayerful little girl of Puritan parents but has become a flaming, hardboiled Jezebel packing a wallop in each fist. Never in all her existence had she become so popular. Druggists who had a hard time selling the mild wine of days gone by simply could not get enough of the tonic to supply the trade.

And that's what there is in a name.

About New York

New York—To Mr. Philip Sinnott, manager of the NEA Service Pacific Coast bureau, San Francisco, Calif.

It's been so long since I was in California, that I've almost forgotten how to alibi for a fog and admire the sunshine. Instead, I've adopted an old New York custom of talking about myself. When you can go down a street talking to yourself, then you have completed the Manhattan cycle—even if you are a little bit nutty.

Nevertheless, I haven't forgotten my kindergarten lessons in Californiaeso and can tell the teacher right off the bat the particular state where "life is better." In fact I've thought of twisting Jim Roarty's slogan to fit New York. I was going to make it "where life is bitter"—but just then the postman arrived with the Easter poppies which your Coast bureau boys sent to jerk a tear from these old eyes. Out here they think a poppy is the name of a musical show.

But belonging to the land where everything is "bigger and better" you weren't content to send merely a box of poppies. You enclosed in it a "visiting fireman." Have you heard the latest one about the man who found a fly in his soup? . . . Well, anyhow, when the wife and I opened the box, out stepped a cute little "Apis Californientum." And I don't know what to do with him! I don't even know for sure that that is his name. We've called him an "Apis Californientum" to hide our ignorance. You see the only bugs we have here are cockroaches, mosquitoes, flies and bed-bugs. And when a bug with personality arrives, it's something to write home about.

I might inform you that he looks like a bee whose great-grandmother had carried on a flirtation with an ant. His coat is golden and bee-like, but his lines are those of an esthetic dancer. Maybe the bees have gone in for those clothes-model figures since I left home.

At first we felt that, having traveled all the way from California by airmail, some special sort of welcome should be given Apis. I considered calling Grover Whelan, but he's no longer our official greeter. And Mayor Walker was certain to be out in his latest cutaway for the Easter parade.

So, it being Easter morning, it occurred to us to show the New York bugs what a well-dressed bug should wear. However, they ritzed him after the best fashion of a New Yorker with a visiting fireman.

Then, to our horror, we noted that Apis was threatening to go the way of most visitors. He abandoned his poppies and made straight for the gay Ninth avenue tulips we had put in the window.

But it merely shows you what the metropolis will do to a bug that spent his life in a poppy field. And I wish you'd ask him to come home. I'd make the suggestion but it doesn't seem the real thing for a host to do. After all, I've stood for more bothersome "firemen."

—Gilbert Swan.

Today's Anniversary

THE GALVESTON TORNADO

On Sept. 8, 1900, a West Indian hurricane drove a tidal wave across the city of Galveston, Tex., and caused what is said to be the greatest disaster in the history of the North American continent.

Moree than 8,000 persons lost theeir lives and property estimated to be worth $20,000,000 was destroyed overnight. The entire city was submerged to a depth of from four to 16 feet.

A report of the disaster at the time reads in part as follows: "The combined attack of the hurricane and tidal wave produced indescribable horrors—the destruction of property sinking into insignificance when compared with the appalling loss of life . . . Practically all food supplies had been destroyed and the drinking-water supply had been cut off. . . . Military administration was made necessary and many ghoulish looters and plunderers were summarily shot, either in the act of robbing the dead or upon evidence of guilt."

Help was poured in from all parts of the world, and out of the storm emerged a wrecked city with a nucleus of 20,000 left from a prosperous community of 38,000. Since the storm the population has more than trebeled, a model municipal government has been established and gigantic engineering projects carried to a successful completion.

COLORADO SPRINGS INVESTIGATES CANNED VENTILATION

Most of us who do not live within a few hours ride of Colorado Springs probably cherish vague ideas about the climate of the famous health resort. One must ascend Pike's well known eminence, look around and inhale several futile diaphragmfuls of the thin, ultraviolet air in order to appreciate the wonderful atmosphere of the place.

And yet, to the folks who live here, a least to some of 'em, the air is not so good. Listen here:

> My Dear Dr. Brady:
> I always read your daily talks in our paper and have learned many valuable things from them. May I "ask you another?"
> The school in which I teach has installed a patent ventilating and heat control system. We are not allowed to open the windows. The system works well enough, with the exception of the lack of moisture. The outside air is drawn in, forced over warm pipes, then into the rooms. No moisture is added.
> Our science teachers by actual test found that the air contains about 7 per cent moisture.
> Would this dryness have any effect on our comfort, dispositions, "pep" and efficiency?
> In addition to a feeling of dry skin, cracked lips, might this produce a feeling of eyestrain?
> Yours truly

. . . .

Colorado air is rather dry to begin with—that's what makes very low temperatures less "penetrating" and very high temperatures less oppressive there. Of course heating the air dries it out still more; and if it is heated above 65 degrees F. it must be excessively dry. Such air would quite likely cause all the troubles the teacher mentions and more.

Evidently the responsible authorities of the city have not heard about the junking of all such mechanical ventilating installations in the New York city schools two or three years ago. The gadgets were all found unsatisfactory.

Any school building that requires ventilating may be most satisfactorily ventilated by means of open windows, with screens of fine wire cloth or of unbleached muslin when screens are desired to exclude insects, wind, rain snow or dust. Such ventilation gives the inmates the adventage of all the wholesome humidity in the open air, or at least a fair degree of humidity.

To my mind it is a crime to spend a penny of the taxpayer's money over and above the cost of such winow screens, in the name of ventilation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Eye Water

Is salt water good for the eyes? If not, what do you advise to use for bathing the eyes? (H. J. W.)

Answer—Plain water smarts and irritates the eyes. The addition of a rounded teaspoonful of common salt to the pint of boiled water gives the water approximately the saline strength of the tears and makes it less irritating. But no such wash is good for the eyes particularly. I do not avise washing the eyes, unless there is some particular trouble, and in that case the physician will prescribe the proper medicine. The tears are the best wash for the eyes, normally. There is a common notion that boric acid solution (a teaspoonful of boric acid in the pint of boiled water) is somehow "good" for the eyes. It isn't. It is merely a mild and comparatively non-irritating antiseptic solution. There is no sense in the application of an antiseptic where the trouble is not of infectious character (due to germs). Most simple or chronic eye troubles are not of infectious character, so it is just a silly business using antiseptic eye washes or drops. Many people whose eyelids are congested or red from one cause or another (not infectious) like to drop a mild astringent in the eyes once or twice a day. For that purpose a solution of sinc sulphate is all right, if it is very weak, as follows:

Zinc sulphate .... 1 grain
Boric acid .... 10 grains
Distilled water .... 1 ounce

The borid acid is added to preserve the solution against spoiling.

Once More the Sink Is Clogged

I wonder if your coffee loving readers generally know the most economical way to dispose of coffee grounds? Dump them into the sink, and wash down the drain with a little hot water. I have found this always keeps the sink clear. It is better than using lye or other preparations to open the drain, for the coffee grounds scour out the drain while lye and similar things form a soapy mass which is difficult to wash away. (L. M. A.)

Answer—Right O. I reckon seven score readers have reported similar satisfactory experience in keeping the sink clear. One plumber filed an exception and warning, but then several plumbers' wives, or rather the wives of several plumbers told me not to pay any attention to that, as their respective husbands commended dumping the coffee grounds in the sink.

THE Travel Man said: "Would you like to meet this little happy tike?" "Of course," replied wee Clowny. "Can we meet the young girl, too? She seems to have a friendly smile. We might sit down and talk awhile. Of course, if you don't think it best, we'll leave that up to you."

This pleased the Travel Man and he said, "Howdy do!" The girl replied with a kindly grin and then said, "Tell me where you've been. I know that you are travelers and how I envy you."

Wee Scouty stepped out, brave and bold, and quite a thrilling story told about their wondrous visits. "It's been marvelous," said he. "Our friend, the Travel Man, has shown us many lands, to which we've flown. We never knew before how lucky anyone could be."

Then Clowny said, "Now tell us 'bout the life you live. I have no doubt that you, too, have a heap of fun." The girl then knit her brows. "Well, maybe not and maybe so," said she. "Around our yard I go each day at work. You see I feed the chickens, pigs and cows.

"I also take care of this child. He's my young brother. My, he's wild. To keep the tot from crying, I give him a ride each day, up in the basket on my head. He walks, but likes to ride instead." They chatted for an hour more. Then the bunch were on their way.

The next thing that they did was fly, just like a bird, out through the sky. For Calabria, in Italy, their monstrous plane was bound. Soon 'cross the ground the big plane ran and nearby stood a fine old man. He walked right up to greet them and then the Tinies gathered 'round.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Random notes in A Washington Day Book:

Here's one they are telilng on Senator Borah of Idaho.

Friends of the senator recently bought a home not far distant from the capital and invited him to come out, visit them, and make himself at home.

On the place were a lot of blackberries. It seems that the famous Idahoan is found of this particular kind of fruit. So, one day, while his hosts were away, he procured a basket and went out to pluck some.

All went well until an old lady, who lives nearby, spied the senator and accosted him. She asked if he knew he was trespassing. He told her that he was not, but she insisted he was.

Finally, a bit amused at the incident, he turned to her and said:

"Perhaps you do not know who I am."

And without a moment of hesitation came the reply:

"Oh, yes, I do, Senator Borah."

OWES POST TO WIFE

Sen. Arthur Robinson of Indiana, one of the youngest men in the senate, is probably the only member of that body who owes his election to his wife.

Mrs. Robinson's genius for organization won her the post of guiding her husband's political destiny. And it is this same quality that Senator Robinson recognizes he lacks.

Mrs. Robinson began her public activities when he was in the war, a major of infantry in France. Working for war agencies, she manifested ability for organization. When the war was over she began political labors in her precinct committee in Indianapolis.

Later she became vice-chairman of the republican city committee in Indianapolis. She was her husband's sole manager, organizing and conducting his campaign while he stayed at his post in the senate in Washington.

"She has managed me all my life," says the senator. "I saw no reason why she should not do it then."

A rather plain, but vivacious and friendly woman, Mrs. Robinson is the type who easily makes friends.

Both she and the senator are in their forties.

SAFE

President Hover's chauffeur has been offically recognized as a safe driver.

Francis H. Robinson, who has been driving the private automobile of Presidents since 1910, has in his possession a copy of a resolution pased by the safety council of Dayton, Ohio, to this effect. The resolution was forwarded direct to President Hoover.

Robinson, who first came to the White House when President Taft decided to replace the traditional carriage with a steam-driven automobile, has had no accidents during his entire service as the chauffeur to Presidents.

He has driven for Presidents Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—One is married in New York at either the marriage license bureau in the Municipal building or at the Little Church Around the Corner.

There are, of course, other places where the rites of matrimony are solemnized, ranging in magnificence from St. Patrick's cathedral or St. Thomas's church for society weddings to the private office of Mayor James J. Walker.

But the marriage knot is tied most frequently at either the ecclesiastic chapel of the Little church or the civil chapel of the city hall's annex.

MARRIAGE MILL

The municipal chapel holds the day's record, although the Church of the Transfiguration (the formal name of the Little Church Around the Corner) is a formidable rival with 43 weddings between a recent sun-up and sunset.

The ceremony at city hall is a little more perfunctory, too, than even the simplest form before the famous Brides' altar of the Little church.

A couple, having obtained the license, waits at the outer chamber of a musty little palm-trimmed chapel until J. J. McCormick, the city's veteran performer of marriages, is ready to pronounce them man and wife.

Bridal costumes, other than the customary corsage bouquet, are a rarity.

McCormick, whose title is deputy city clerk, is rather proud of the speed in which he can unite a couple, possibly for life. He has done it more than 100,000 times in the last eight years. It is all over in about two minutes.

"Next," calls the efficient McCormick. During the war, he married 198 couples in one day. In June he has often recited the brief ritual a hundred times a day.

Quite a few are second marriages, by which time the romance probably has worn off. Very few bridegrooms pay more than the standard $2 fee.

BRIDES' CHAPEL

At the Little Church Around the Corner there is more sentiment if not so much speed.

Banns are supposed to be published before the ceremony and many minutes of the Sunday morning service are given over to that routine. But that can be waived, leaving only the requirement of baptism, which, if it never has been administered before to the contracting parties, may precede the marriage.

Then there are papers to be signed after which the Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray, the rector, or usually one of his assistants, kisses a white stole, places it over his shoulders and leads the couple and their witnesses to the Brides' altar, where the Episcopal ceremony is read. For onlookers the couple usually has an interested group of tourists.

The number of weddings at the Little church — 15,000 in the last seven years—is not so impressive as at city hall, but the ceremony is more so.

Moreover, it entitles the presumably happy couple to membership in "The Family of the Little Church Around the Corner," an organization Dr. Ray formed last April to preserve the site of the historic church from the encroachment of skyscrapers and commercialism.

The membership fee is scaled from $1 for annual membership to $500 for life membership, which is not much if the marriage "takes," as, of course, everybody is confident that it will.

The proprietor of a famous English seaside resort, anxious to increase vacation patronage, has cut rates on days the sun doesn't shine. He wants every cloud to have a silver lining.

Eagles Plan Program For Two Months

AT a meeting of the social committee of Fraternal Order of Eagles Saturday night at Eagle hall, the social program for the next two months was planned The committee will report on the plans at the lodge meeting Wednesday night.

The social program for the fall will open on Sept. 17 when a joint meeting will be held with the ladies auxiliary. Invitations will be issued to Edwin Dowe, Beaver Dam, state president, and Dr. William Doyle, Fond du Lac, state vice president, to be present at the event. A lunch will be served and dancing will take place after the meeting. No program has been planned for September 24 as the auxiliary holds its night meeting on that date.

A smoker and cards for members only will be held on Oct. 1, and Oct. 8 will be devoted to business. Past presidents' night will be observed Oct. 15, all past presidents of the lodge occupying the chairs instead of the regular officers. A fish fry has been planned for refreshments.

A stag Halloween party will take place Oct. 29. The social committee will meet again in two weeks at which time the program for November and Dec. will be drawn up.

OFFICERS BACK FROM MEETING

George T. Prim, Chris Mullen, John Haug, Jr., Frank Van Handel, and Ervin Hoffman have returned from Milwaukee where they attended the annual state meeting of grand Knights and financial secretaries of Knights of Columbus which was held Saturday and Sunday. The first four were official delegates from Appleton council and the latter was a visitor at the meeting.

Tentative arrangements were made at the meeting to bring Peter W. Collins, noted lecturer, to give a talk at Lawrence Memorial chapel sometime during the fall. His subject is to be Communism and he will appear under the auspices of Appleton, Kaukauna, and Nicolet councils. Other lodge business was transacted.

FIFTY ATTEND SCHOOL SOCIAL

Fifty people attended the play and ice cream social given by the Twin Willows 4-H club Friday evening at the school house. After the play a short business meeting was held. Members decided to hold a special meeting on Friday, Sept. 19 at the home of the leader, Miss Juanita Hanson. At this time members will hold a campfire rally. After the meeting a short talk was given by E. A. Sell, agricultural agent, and several songs were sung by the group.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The monthly business meeting of the Senior Olive branch Walther League of Mount Olive Lutheran church will be held at 7:30 Tuesday evening. A report on the international convention of the league at Cleveland, Ohio, last July is to be read by Arthur Kahler, local delegate to the conclave. Plans for the winter months also will be discussed.

The executive board of the Junior Young People's society of St. Paul Lutheran church will meet in the parish school hall at 7:30 Monday evening to make plans for the first fall meeting of the society at 7:30 Tuesday evening. Meetings were abandoned during July and August. Plans for the winter months will be arranged at the Tuesday night session.

The meeting of Women's Missionary society of Memorial Presbyterian church, which was to have been held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Paterson, 319 E. Lawrence-st, had been postponed for a week. Assistant hostesses for the meeting will be Miss Marion Smith, Mrs. F. Martin and Mrs. J. C. Meyer.

Deaconesses of First Congregational church will meet at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the church. Regular business will be transacted and a report will be made of all sick calls made during the summer.

Harold Krueger, delegated to the Brotherhood convention in August at Elmhurst, will give a report on the sessions at the meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John Evangelical church at 7:45 Tuesday night at the church. A social hour will follow the business meeting.

CARD PARTIES

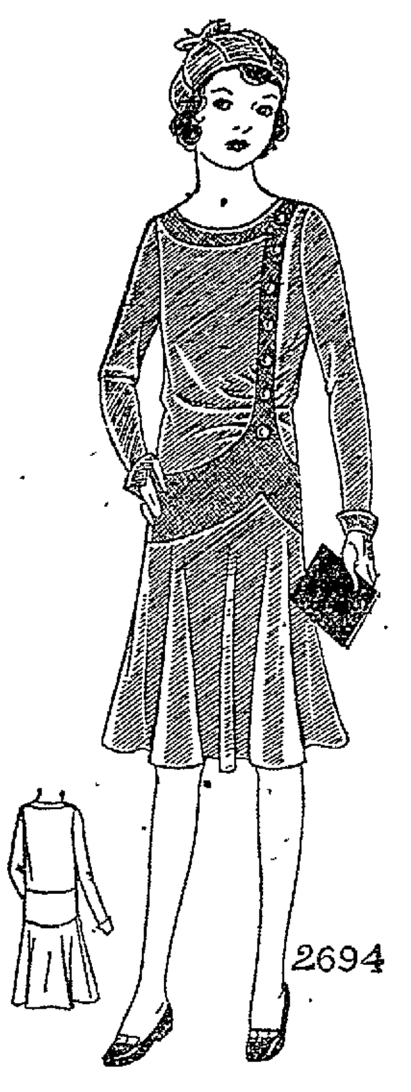
Twenty-one tables were in play at the benefit card party given at Sacred Heart parish hall Sunday evening. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Joseph Fisher, John Vandenbook and Leo Fisher, at plumpsack Mrs. M. Schmidt and Mrs. J. Sanders, at bridge by J. Morgan and Mrs. Pat Vaughn and at skat by William Becker and H. J. Kuchenberg.

Appleton Apostolate will sponsor a card party at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at Catholic home. Schafkopf and bridge will be played. Mrs. Paul Hendroth will be chairman of the committee in charge.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Schultz, 614 Morrison-st, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Harvey Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brown, Milwaukee, which took place Saturday at Milwaukee. The couple will make their home in Milwaukee.

French Model



BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

Little daughter will be delighted with this exclusive model of French origin.

It is featherweight tweed of diagonal weave in cinnamon brown tones. The front band extending down the left side of the bodice merging into hip yoke, round neckline band and the cuffs are cut crosswise of material so as to produce a smart contrasting effect.

Style No. 2694 may be had in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Size 8 requires 1⅞ yards 39-inch material with ⅜ yards 35-inch contrasting.

Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department. Spend 10c to save $10. How? By ordering a copy of our new Fall and Winter Fashions. It gives the answer to the often asked question. "How does she do it?" For it shows how to dress up to the minute at little expense. WISCONSIN WEATHER

Fair tonight; slightly cooler in extreme southeast portion; Tuesday increasing cloudiness; somewhat warmer in west and north portion.

GENERAL WEATHER

A moderately strong "high" overlies the upper Mississippi Valley this morning, bringing fair and cooler to most of the lake region. Scattered showers occurred yesterday over the Ohio Valley and Mississippi Valley and the middle Atlantic states. A low pressure area over the north Pacific coast is causing increasing cloudiness and warmer over the northern Rocky Mountains and upper Missouri Valley. Continued fair weather is expected in this section tonight and Tuesday, with rising temperature Tuesday.

Have You Heard —

You can make one very easily by simply dressing up any pillow you have in a new cover.

If you hav eany sick folks at home they will appreciate the warmth and coziness in such a pillow. Or you yourself will find it mighty comfortable to put behind your back and snuggle into when reading on a chill autumn night.

CHURCH GROUP TO ENTERTAIN FOR STUDENTS

Activities of Christian Endeavor society of Memorial Presbyterian church for the year will begin with a reception for Presbyterian students of Lawrence college next Sunday evening, according to plans made at the meeting Sunday evening at the church. The reception will be held immediately after the vesper services for all students at All Saints Episcopal church. This is an annual event planned especially for new students at the college, and is held for the purpose of acquainting the new students with the old and of welcoming them to Lawrence.

Miss Annette Heller and Miss Helen Werner were appointed to arrange a program for the reception. The decoration committee is composed of Miss Eloise Smeltzer, and Miss Helen Garrison, and the serving committee includes Miss Mary Schenck, Miss Doris Everson, Miss Constance Garrison, and Miss Marion Clack.

Plans for the year were discussed at the meeting Sunday night. Devotional meetings will be held every Sunday evening as in former years.

My Neighbor Says---

To sterilize jars, put jars and lids in a clean boiler or pan of cold water. Put on stove over fire and bring to a boil. Leave at boiling point until ready to fill. Remove one at a time from the water. Adjust the rubbers which have been dipped in boiling water. Do not forget to dip the funnel into the boiling water each time before using.

It is important when cutting flowering stalks of gladioli to leave some of the foliage, as it is needed for ripening the bulbs. The stalks are best cut at an angle with a sharp knife, and the right time is when the first flower at the bottom of the spike has unfolded. This is a good time to make a selection of varieties for next year. Few flowers are easier to grow or better for house decoration.

When flies are troublesome in the sick room try placing sweet peas in the room. The odor of them is so offensive to the flies they will not remain where it is.

If cake is put in too slow an oven, it often rises over sides of pan and is of very coarse texture. If put into too hot an oven it browns on top before sufficiently risen and in its attempt to rise breaks through the crust making an unsightly loaf. Cake will also crack on top if too much flour has been used.

Vinegar used in water in which bright pinks and green cotton materials are rinsed makes materials of these colors brighter.

After squeezing the juice from a lemon save the skin and after peeling vegetables rub it over your fingers. It will remove all discolorations. Do not use water or soap until after rubbing your hands with lemon.

Beat soap flakes into a foam with the egg beater. Fewer flakes will be required, and better suds will result.

FIND 840-FOOT DEPTH IN LAKE MICHIGAN

Kewaunee—(AP)—Using an electrosound recording instrument, officers aboard the U. S. S. Margaret, now completing a survey of Lake Michigan, today said the greatest depth of the lake so far recorded was 840 feet.

About 12 more days will be necessary to complete charting the lake bottom. The ship is equipped with an instrument that measures the depth of the water by recording electrically the time necessary for a sound to be transmitted from the boat to the bottom of the lake and back to the instrument. The Margaret has made 70 trips across the lake at three mile intervals. The officers said the deepest portion was found off Kewaunee.

The Story of Sue

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I'LL be leaving the office the first of the month," Miss Parsons announced to Sue one day. 'I'm being married. I'm going into the home-making industry. Maybe I was a capable stenographer and maybe I'll be a fadeout as a housekeeper, but I can't stand the sight of another brief case or carbon copy."

"Oh, that's gorgeous," Sue agreed. "Is it the man you used to know?"

"It is. And we'll have the knot tied before the Thorntons get back. Then I'm leaving your city for some place way off....Hawaii for awhile. Romance. I want it. Maybe it will have rheumatism but....Are the papers ready for Mr. Curtiss?"

Sue forgot about Miss Parsons' belated matrimonial ventures. She was worried about the ring. Harry's perfect emerald had been put in hock to pay Corrinne's bills, with the understanding that Corrinne was to claim it within a certain number of days. And Corrinne hadn't sent a cent.

Sue knew that she had probably forgotten. She waited until the next day, then went to the bank and asked for a loan. Corrinne, she figured, could repay the loan. But Sybil Lester spotted her.

Sue heard Sybil's voice as she talked to the official to whom Sue had gone. "She's nothing but a stenographer...over here in the Thornton, Curtis and Thornton office. I wouldn't do it without wiring Judge Thornton for security. Why should she need money?"

Sue flung her head defiantly and walked into the office.

"Never mind. I've decided I don't want the loan."

She went on the street, her cheeks burning, and Sybil's voice following her. "Didn't I tell you that she doesn't want Judge Thornton to know about it? There is something strange somewhere." Later, much later, Sue was going to remember this incident when Sybil once more brought it up.

The next day she went to the pawn-shop and tried to extend her time, but the pawnbroker was crafty and held her to her bargain. Sue finally left the store and went back to the office, but the feeling of dread that she had expected was gone. The ring had been Corrinne's responsibility, not hers. Maybe, when Harry and Jack came back, they could do something about it. She wondered if there was some kind of law which could prevent a man from getting something valuable for a song. She looked through a musty law volume and didn't know how to work the index. In despair she closed it and tackled her work.

There were letters at home from her mother and Corrinne...a note with some snapshots from Harry was enclosed in Corrinne's. Evidently they were all having a very good time.

"And Jack dances attendance on the sylph-like widow in her creamy gowns. But even you would like her. She's the divine adoration type and that doesn't wear long as a rule. But she seems to put enough fire in it to make her worshipers come to church often. I have a trick in my hand that she doesn't know anything about. As soon as the time's ripe I'll let her see it. And won't she be surprised! Her brother has gone back to flunk some more exams. His being gone makes it easier for me to surprise the lady."

NEXT: Corrinne plays her trick.

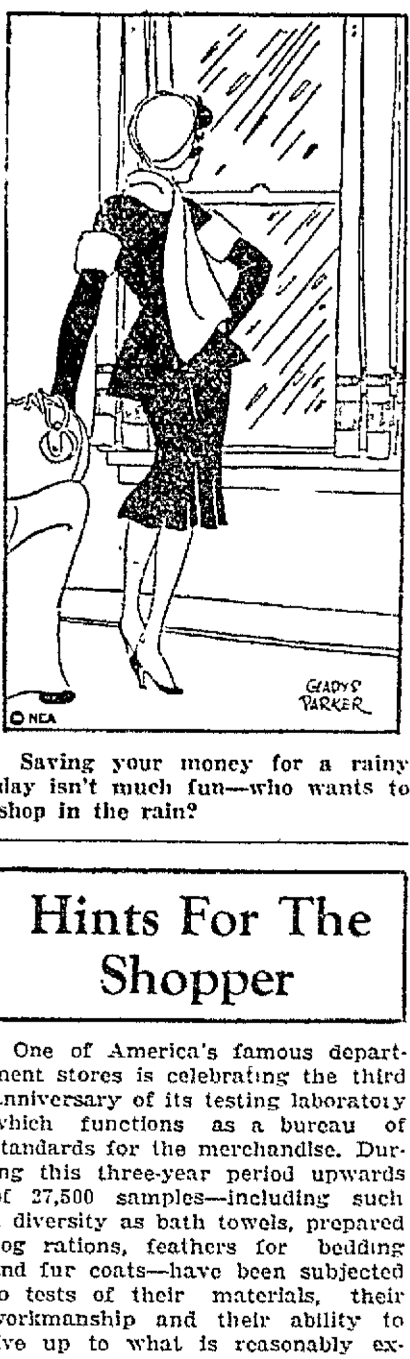
Flapper Fanny Says:



Saving your money for a rainy day isn't much fun—who wants to shop in the rain?

Hints For The Shopper

One of America's famous department stores is celebrating the third anniversary of its testing laboratory which functions as a bureau of standards for the merchandise. During this three-year period upwards of 27,500 samples—including such a diversity as bath towels, prepared dog rations, feathers for bedding and fur coats—have been subjected to tests of their materials, their workmanship and their ability to live up to what is reasonably expected of them.

Such testing requires a thorough knowledge of chemistry and physics, as well as no end of laboratory equipment. It is therefore beyond the scope of the housewife, but the shopper should encourage the development of this merchandising policy as a definite step in raising the standards of the wares from which she selects her purchases.

Goes to Downer

Miss Orleana Wettengel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wettenged, 915 E. Alton-st, is enrolled in the freshman class of Milwaukee-Downer college for the coming year. The enrollment represents 20 states and four foreign countries. Classes will begin Sept. 16.

WE WOMEN

by Betty Brainerd

I went into a shop a few days ago to buy a hat—a blue hat, I explained carefully. The saleswoman promptly brought me a dark brown hat.

I had hoped against hope that she would take me at my word and believe that I did want a blue hat. But, as frequently happens, she sized me up as a moron that didn't know its own mind.

I explained to the saleswoman, with patience born of long suffering, that I had said blue and meant blue and added, unwisely, that it was to go with a blue suit.

"This goes perfectly well with a blue suit," was her brisk response. Perhaps it did—but it was not going with my blue suit and I let her know it. "Everyone is wearing brown this year," was her next contribution. "You won't find what you want in blue. This is just your style."

Is this salesmanship?

It must be. It is so prevalent. The idea seems to be, first, to assume that the customer does not mean what she says, then, if she insists that she does mean exactly what she says, to prove to her that her idea is all wrong. If even after that the customer persists in being obstinate and clinging to her own nottion, let her go. She is not worth the struggle!

It happens again and again, this curious sort of coercion that is applied in shops. I wonder with what type of woman it is successful.

I have known women who through sheer inertia or fatigue have bought things thrust upon them. But I have never known one who was satisfied with anything acquired in that fashion or who returned to the same saleswoman.

The small shops are much more apt to be offenders in this line than the large department stores. In the large shops it is often possible to obtain the desired article without argument or explanation. If they haven't the article, you are allowed to depart in peace. Perhaps this is because they are too busy to try to reform or remake each customer!

In many small shops, however, they usually have ample time to try to reform one's taste's and desires. Their motto seems to be "the customer is always wrong." The customer is regarded as a weak-minded individual whose tastes and ideas must be guided. If she wants a blue hat show her a brown!

Articles by experts on salesmanship state that the customer as always right. If she wants a street suit, don't sell her an evening gown. I wonder for whom these articles are written?

Case Involving Peter Maret Is One of 11 on Circuit Court Calendar

Neenah—The September term of circuit court started Monday morning with 11 criminal cases on the calendar. Among the cases to be tried is that of Peter Maret of Menasha, charged with arson. It involves a fire at 3 Clay-st, Menasha, May 29, when it is alleged the defendant set fire to the dwelling house. Another case of local interests will be that of William Malauf, charged with defrauding Lyman J. Miller, of Menasha, of $461.65 in 1928 in connection with the purchase of a house and lot.

There are 39 cases listed in the civil jury calendar for the September term of court, but this list is not so long as might at first appear, since it was noted that half of these cases have been carried over from the spring term of court.

Issues of fact for the court, for trial without jury, number but eight. The entire calendar is comparatively small when considered in connection with the September calendar of last year, at which time both the criminal and civil list of cases were longer than this year.

There are several game law violation cases which were taken from local justice courts to the higher courts and contained in the criminal calendar. They are George Buyske, game law violator; Eugene Clark, selling game fish; George Nichols illegal fishing, and Victor Luedeke, illegal fishing.

William Sherman is the only Neenah person drawn as a petit juror. There are eight drawn from the town of Neenah, Mrs. George Schefe, Alvin Ternes, Herbert Harper, Mrs. William Grundy, Edward Buser, W. E. Hall, Mrs. Herbert Harper and Edward Schaller; Clement Renders of town of Menasha; Howard Jensen and William Lambert of Allenville, while the others are from the city of Oshkosh and other towns in the south and western part of the county.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Licenses to marry have been granted by George Manuel, Winnebago-co clerk, to Irvin W. Erickson, route 3 Neenah, and Hazel B. Helgeson, route 2 Neenah; Clarance J. Schmitzer and Eleanore E. Fredericks, both of Menasha.

St. Paul English Lutheran church Brotherhood was entertained Sunday afternoon at an outing at the summer home of Chris Christensen on the lakeshore south of the city limits. A picnic dinner was served while the afternoon and evening hours were spent in games and a social time.

Neenah—Danish Brotherhood and their families were at Green Bay Sunday afternoon to attend the annual picnic given at Bay view beach by the Brotherhood and Sisterhood of that city. The day was spent in games. Arrangements will be made to hold a similar picnic here.

Eastern Stars will hold their first fall dinner followed by a meeting Wednesday evening at Masonic temple. This will be the first session following the summer vacation. Kane lodge Masons will begin their fall meeting next Monay evening after the summer vacation.

One hundred and nineteen public school teachers and members of the Citizens' committee appointed to entertain, motored to Onaway Island, Waupaca, Saturday afternoon, where the annual outing was held. The afternoon was spent in playing baseball and volleyball and in swimming and other athletic activities after which a dinner was served. The evening was spent in singing and stunts. This is an annual event sponsored by a committee of citizens in an effort to better acquaint the old and new teachers during the first week of school.

TWO NEENAH WOMEN RECEIVE DIVORCES

Neenah — A divorce was granted Saturday in Oshkosh circuit court to Mrs. Marie Hanke from Charles Hanke, both of Neenah. They were married June 8, 1916. The plaintiff testified her husband had been drinking heavily in the past few years and that he took no interest in the home, refused to take her out in public and that he remained away from home nights. She obtained the household furniture and $850 and the husband is to pay the attorney fees.

In county court Mrs. Emma Weinke secured a divorce from August E. Weinke. The parties reside at Neenah. They were married Sept. 17, 1913, and have two children. The plaintiff testified her huhsband had treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner by the use of physical violence and by calling her names. She said he was often intoxicated. She obtained the custody of the children, the household furniture and an interest in the homestead. The husband is to pay the attorney fees and $30 a month for the support of the children.

Menasha — Kaukauna's baseball team pounded the offerings of two Neenah-Menasha hurlers for 17 hits to score a one sided victory over the Pails at Menasha Recreation park Sunday. The Kaws scored 13 tallies while holding the Twin City sluggers to only four runs.

Lefty Becker began the mound work for the local squad but was driven to the showers by an avalanche of hits and runs in the fourth frame. Zenefski, powerful Menasha right hander, replaced the southpaw in the fifth inning but had only slightly better luck against the down river hitters. Reffke, hurling for the Kaws, held the Pails to eight hits and four tallies. Although the Neenah-Menasha team were playing their season's closing battle, only a small crowd attended the battle.

That Becker was going to have a bad day became apparent in the initial frame. Three walks, one batter struck by a pitched ball, and a single through the box combined to score a pair of runs for Kaukauna.

The Pails come back in the second inning to score three runs and establish a one run lead held for only two frames. A single by Leopold, another by Sheleski, a third by Smith and fourth by Lewandowski scored the first run. Krysiak whiffed but Becker rapped out his first hit of the year scoring Sheleski and Smith. Weisgerber hit into a double play to retire the side.

The Kaws found Becker's offerings easy in the fourth inning and a walk, an error, singles by R. Vils, Reffke, and Stegeman and a double by McAndrews brought in five runs. Ten men faced the Menasha southpaw before the close of the fracas.

Zenefski assumed the pitching burden in the fifth inning replacing Becker, and only one run was scored until the eighth inning when singles by Smith and Wenzel began another parade. The two safeties, a pair of walks and an error by Johnny Sheleski accounted for two Kaukauna runs. The feature of the inning was McAndrews unnecessary attempt to steal home. The play was close at the plate but umpire Jansen called the runner out and after the ensuing arguments were over, he was still out.

The Pails scored their fourth and last tally in the last half of the eighth inning. Handler drew a walk and advanced to third when Muench doubled. Handler scored when Reffke threw the ball past the catcher on a wild pitch but the next three men were retired.

The Kaws scored three runs in the first of the ninth to bring the count to thirteen and four. When the Pails came to bat in the last of the inning, singles by Lewandowski and Krysiak and a walk for Zenefski, failed to alter the score.

NEW CHALLENGES ARE ISSUED BY STAMPS

Menasha — The consistent victories of the post office soft ball team over the Fulcan paint company's squad during the past few weeks have developed into serious proportions. The painters, despairing of ever defeating the stamps in a soft ball game have thrown down their gauntlet in two other fields and have challenged the postal athletes to either a hard ball game or a foot ball game. Post office authorities have declined to make a statement until the possibilities of a Fulcan victory in either field have been thoroughly investigated.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winters of Green Bay visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Karrick, Menasha, Sunday.

POWELL WINS DUEL OF PITCHERS, 1-0

Win for Falcon Hurler Is Fifth Straight, Strikes Out 12 Men

Menasha—Jerry Powell, Falcon right hander, pitched the Menasha squad to a 1 to 0 victory over the Kaukauna squad in Little Fox league play Sunday afternoon. Powell scored 12 strike outs and allowed only six scattered safeties.

Sunday's victory was the fifth win for Powell in as many starts for the Falcons. He was opposed on the mound by Van Der Zanden of Kaukauna who allowed only five safeties and lost the game because of faltering support in the sixth inning.

The game developed into a mound duel early in the game and neither team made a hit until the third inning. In the sixth, with no runs scored by either team, Myeski came to bat with one out and rapped out a clean single, Hammy Powell was safe at first on Kemp's error and with two out, Koney, Falcon first sacker, drove a slow bounding ball down the third base line. Vils failed to snare it and Myeski scored the winning run from second base.

MENASHA GRIDDERS HOLD 1ST PRACTICE

Menasha—The Menasha semi-professional football team held its first practice session in the Menasha city park field Saturday afternoon. About 25 candidates reported and were run through a general workout and a number of formations under the direction of Dr. R. J. O'Keefe, former Marquette star, who is coaching the team.

Scheduling of games was delayed until the number of players to attend Saturday's practice had been reported to officials of the "M" athletic association, sponsoring the team. With a satisfactory turnout, games will be scheduled and rehearsals held three times a week.

TWIN-CITY HOME MERCHANTS MEET

Menasha — The Neenah-Menasha Home Merchants association will meet in the auditorium of the Neenah city hall Monday evening. The fall program will be outlined and an amendment to the bi-laws changing the name to the Neenah-Menasha Association will be considered.

BELGIUM REJOICES AS PRINCE IS BORN

Brussels—(AP)—Belgium rejoiced today in the brith of a new prince of the blood and heir in the direct male line to the throne.

Princess Astrid of Sweden, wife of Crown Prince Leopold, bearing her second child yesterday, gave the country a nine-pound boy. The newcomer was baptized Sunday night with the name Badouin Albert Axel Marie Gustave.

The preliminary baptismal service will be followed by a formal ceremony within a month at which King Albert will act as godfather.

The first child of the royal pair, born in 1927, is Princess Josephine Charlotte.

With the booming of a salute of 101 guns announcing birth of a boy and heir a crowd surrounded Stuyvenberg castle to cheer the prince and his family.

Lehner To Talk

Menasha—Philip Lehner, candidate for congress on the progressive Republican ticket, is scheduled to speak in Menasha Monday evening, according to city officials. Lehner will speak from a platform in the city triangle.

GRID SQUAD WILL MEET FOND DU LAC

First Practice Sunday Brings Out Promise of Successful Season

New London —The New London football team at practice Sunday morning showed up as a team which will more than hold its own this season. Wrunke and Bannock, newcomers, are sure of a place. Charlesworth, around whom most of last year's playing centered, will again be back with the squad. Wrunke will hold down the center job, while Bannock and Charlesworth will also play in the line. With Merle Seims, Edminister, Lathrop, Rice and Ladwig, the team should have a good heavy line.

Next Sunday's game with Fond du Lac at the latter field should be a genuine test for the locals. The Cardinal team, going under the Ruep name, is a fast, heavy bunch, and this aggregation is coached by Bill Dew, former Notre Dame star. Dew is reported to be teaching his team plenty of tricky plays to spring on the New London crew. On the following Sunday, Sept. 21, the fans will see another brand of playing and coaching, when the Menasha team, coached O'Keefe, play here.

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—One of the prettiest of the late summer social affairs was the luncheon given on Saturday by Mrs. M. C. Trayser of this city and Mrs. Allan Dunaway of Pine Bluff, Ark. Luncheon was served in the main dining room of the Elwood hotel. Tables were decorated with a profusion of flowers in pastel shades. Following luncheon bridge was played at the Trayser residence on S. Pearl-st. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. F. Bentz and Mrs. J. W. Monsted, Jr.

SHERWOOD SHEEP WIN FIRST PRIZES AT FAIR

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Sherwood—Frank, Joseph and Eugene Sommerhalter, sons of Henry Sommerhalter of the Long Beach sheep ranch, carried off all first honors for sheep with their pure bred sheep entered in the Youths Club at the Calumet-co fair. At the De Pere fair the young chaps entered their sheep in the open class and received 36 ribbons.

Mrs. Thersia Lacoss and George Stedman of Milwaukee visited at the Anton Schilling home Sunday.

Leonard Seidling suffered a painful injury to his right hand when a bolt penetrated his hand while repairing a tractor on the John Hopfensperger farm during threshing.

Wilmer Runge, who has been employed at the E. A. Bornemann farm for the past two years, has accepted a position at the Nick Hauser quarry. He will operate the stone crusher at that plant.

Considerable corn is being cut for silage at this time. The corn has not ripened sufficiently for seed corn, as the drought dried up the stalks.

SHIOCTON WINS BALL GAME, 4-2

New London Loses When Outfield Errors Enable Visitors to Score

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—New London's baseball team lost another game Sunday when Shiocton took the match by a score of 4-2. Edminister, pitching for the locals, turned in a nice game, but outfield errors were too much for Duff to contend with. Shiocton started its rampage in the first inning, when fly balls were as good as hits and three men scored. This spree was enough to sew up the game as the Shiocton pitcher held New London to two scattered runs. Next Sunday's game on the local diamond winds up the season for the locals.

Badger Girl Is Bride In Washington Ceremony

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent Washington Society Editor)

Washington—A Wisconsin bride, many Wisconsin wedding guests, even a future home in Washington on Wisconsin-ave, made the wedding Thursday evening of Miss Evelyn Esch and Frank J. Barley quite a gala Badger state affair.

Miss Esch was born in Sparta, Wis., and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Esch and the niece of John J. Esch of La Crosse.

The wedding was a lovely home ceremony. Miss Esch, with very dark brown hair and eyes, was beautiful in a long, ivory satin gown, and soft veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Her sister, Janet, was her only attendant, and wore blue chiffon with a rich, wide pink velvet sash. She carried pink roses blended with blue flowers.

Mark Esch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Esch, returned with his parents from Wisconsin for the wedding and acted as bestman for Mr. Barley.

The bride's mother has been quite ill for more than a year, so the wedding was a quiet affair with the guest list limited to relatives and close friends of the family.

Other Wisconsin people at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collier, Mr. and Mrs. William Bartels, and their daughter, Helen, and Dr. and Mrs. Horace D. Norton, all formerly of La Crosse. Mr. Collier is postmaster of the House of Representatives and Mr. Bartel is director of service at the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Barley left after a reception for a motor trip through New England. Mrs. Barley wore a flowered black dress, black hat and shoes. Upon their return from their honeymoon they will be at home in an apartment at Wisconsin and Newark-aves.

Mrs. Barley is a member of Pi Beta sorority and a graduate of Central high school and George Washington University here. She was extensively entertained before her wedding.

Mr. Barley is from Illinois, a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan and the law school of George Washington University. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta, social fraternity, and of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

Dr. Delos O. Kinsman, formerly of Appleton, returned to Washington Sunday evening after a most interesting trip to Europe and a month spent in Russia.

The Russian portion of the trip was made with a large party of economists. Though it was both fascinating and instructive, it was a difficult and strenuous month climaxed by the tragic death of the party's leader, Professor Henry Rogers Seager of Columbia University, at their last Russian stop, Kiev. To rest before returning home, Dr. Kinsman took passage on a rather slow boat from Danzig and spent 12 days on the water.

Mrs. Kinsman returned from Wisconsin on August 25, and was here to greet her husband.

Miss Katherine Lenroot returned from a short visit to her parents, Judge and Mrs. Irvine L. Lenrooot of Superior, at Brule, Wis., on Thursday.

Although most of her summer has been spent traveling, Miss Lenroot has been busy with official errands and will not have a long vacation. She has journeyed to South America, where her visit to Peru and meetings with President Leguia, now become increasingly interesting in view of the revolution in the country and abdication of the president. She has been two or three times in Wisconsin for a short time, and also visited in Boston and New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Esch of La Crosse and their son, Mark, returned from Wisconsin Tuesday evening. They motored and had a lovely trip. "Only two detours," says Mrs. Esch jubilantly.

The three children of Dr. and Mrs. William F. Notz of Watertown, Ellen, Natalie, and William, entertained the two youngsters of the Minister of Ecuador and Senora Homero Viteri Lafronte at luncheon Wednesday. Rosita is named for her mother and George for his father.

Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Notz were guests at a dinner given by Senor Don Guillermo E. Gonzales, commercial attache of the Costa Rican legation, and Senora Gonzales.

Ray Thompson, a fraternity brother of Dr. Notz, is soon to be married and was the guest of honor at a dinner party given Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shields and attended by Dr. and Mrs. Notz. The dinner was given at the University club.

Dr. Notz is Dean of the school of Foreign Service of Georgetown University here.

"Congratulations! And many happy returns of the day," says the National Capital to Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Racine who will be 80 years of age on Monday, Sept. 8. The city is only sorry that Representative and Mrs. Cooper will be in Wisconsin on this special day and that it cannot give a gala and fitting expression of its friendship and affection for this "grand man from Wisconsin," the Dean of the House of Representatives, and his charming wife.

Washington, which has been the home to Dr. and Mrs. Charles Marsh formerly of Green Bay, for all but two days of their two years' of married life, regretfully watched them go on Monday. Dr. Marsh has left American University here for William and Mary in historic old Williamsburk, Va., where he has more classes in economic theory, which is so interesting to him. Incidentally he has been stepped up fully two ranks by this transfer.

Dr. and Mrs. Marsh were as sorry to leave as Washington was to see them go, but they are trying to console themselves with the prospect of the quaint old Virginia city, and nearby historic Yorktown and Jamestown. Washington has no such consolation.

Miss Bernice Porterfield of Oshkosh and Miss Henrietta Hafemann of Milwaukee, both graduates of Lawrence college at Appleton, visited in Washington for a few days last week during their tour of the east. Both are teachers, Miss Porterfield specializing in English and Miss Hafemann in history.

BERNDT BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT

Hearing of Man Charged With Manslaughter to Be Held in October

Special to Post-Crescent

Chilton — William Berndt was brought into justice court Saturday morning before Justice John Hume on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter and was bound over to the circuit court term in October. He was released on $2,000 bond.

The charge was brought against him as the result of the death of Miss Muriel Cardy of Chicago, from injuries she received in an automobile collision at the intersection of Highway 57 and 10, July 31. The car driven by Berndt was traveling south on Highway 57 and that driven by Miss Cardy was going east on Highway 10. It is alleged that Berndt failed to stop at the arterial sign.

A coroner's jury found that Miss Cardy came to her death as the result of an unavoidable accident, but District Attorney Anthony Madler not satisfied with this finding issued a warrant for the arrest of Berndt on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter. Berndt by this time had gone to Chicago, where he was arrested. He refused to waive extradition and it was necessary for Mr. Madler to go to Madison to have extradition papers signed by Governor Kohler. A hearing was held at Chicago last Friday and Berndt was ordered to appear in Chilton on Wednesday. At that time he asked for a continuance until Saturday morning in order to procuro witnesses.

The marriage of Miss Roah Adams and John Nahaplet, which took place in Los Angeles, Calif., on Aug. 16, has been announced. Miss Adams was a member of the local high school faculty about 14 years ago, going from here to California, where she has since resided.

A marriage license was issued by County Clerk Brocker to Walter Richter of Sheboygan and Miss Mary Hammer of Chilton town.

Mrs. Jessie Meyers spent a few days at Milwaukee during the past week.

Mrs. Roy Forkin and son Frances of Maywood, Ill., are visiting at the Luke Owens home.

The Rev. Fr. Grace of Maple Grove will succeed the Rev. James E. Meagher as rector of St. Augustine church, the latter having been transferred to Manitowoc.

SUGAR BEET PLANT TO START OCT. 1

Expect Factory Will Operate Later This Year Because of Big Acreage

Green Bay—The local plant of the Menominee River Sugar company employing 175 men, will begin manufacturing operations this fall about Oct. 1, according to Superintendent C. D. Barber. As the crop this year covers 12,000 acres it is expected that the plant will run longer than usual and furnish employment in the fields to large numbers of men. The prices of sugar, however, now are the lowest in the history of the sugar beet-raising industry.

The finishing touches in the way of installing new equipment and making repairs are now under way at the plant and before Oct. 1 the machinery will be ready for the season's run.

The repair crew is rebaffling the boilers of the plant, relining the dry furnaces, and making repairs on the evaporators and pans. The railroad tracks about the plant are being rebuilt. On account of a threatened shortage of water before the close of the manufacturing season last fall from the well, 370 feet deep, provided with a five inch casing, the packing of the tube is being knocked out so that the suction may be lowered. The capacity of the pumps is 50 gallons per minute.

Mr. Barber says he expects a fairly good yield of sugar beets as in case of dry weather the beets send down their tap roots five and six feet to reach moisture, but even with that extension the beets in some of the fields have had trouble in reaching the water needed. Beets, however, have stood the drought better than corn, cabbage and potatoes, according to Mr. Barber.

COMPANY 'TENSHUN!

Washington, D. C.—The smallest marine corps maintained by the United States is that located on the small Samoan Island of Pago Pago. The marine corps there consists of First Class Sergeant Leslie J. Burrows, who obeys his own commands. There are no other marines on the island.

Our Children

FRIENDSHIP

To the Boys and Girls:

There are two parts of your job—your job of growing up. There is the preparation—study and work that gives you the skill and the power to work well. That is one half. The other half is the power to get on well with people; to make people like you.

You remember the farmer's fine cow? She gave more and better milk than any other cow in the herd but she kicked the bucket of milk over every time. As there was no good for the farmer in that process he sold the cow for beef, the cheapest end a cow can have.

I have known many people like that cow. They have fine gifts. They can teach, or paint, or sell, or build, far better than the next worker in their fields, but they spend more time in bickering with people than they do in working so they fail and have to be sold out.

Getting along with people is an art by itself. It requires thought and it has its own technique. But any healthy minded person can master the secret if he will. Of course first of all he must wish to be friendly, desire to make people like him. Then he sets to work to bring about that liking and the friendliness

The first rule is: "Think of the other person first!" Keep yourself in the background. Listen to what the other person has to say. Good listeners are scarce and greatly prized. If you are engaged to work for the other man, take down his directions and do your very best to do what he wants done. You may think your idea is better but unless he invites an expression of your idea keep it to yourself. If your work is good he will very soon ask your opinion and consider it worth while. But if all the time he is telling you what he wants done, you keep telling him what he ought to want and how it should be done, he will shun you.

The second rule I would offer you is this:—"Keep your tongue under control." Whenever you feel a smart retort rising to the tip of your tongue bite it down. You will never be sorry for what you didn't say. Keep the smart things, the sharp words, the "piece of your mind," for your private enjoyment. When you have thought them over a few times they will lose all their brilliancy and you will rejoice that you had sense enough to keep them to yourself.

One more thing is highly important to you. Keep the debt in your favor. Try to do more than is asked of you. Instead of asking favors, grant them. Don't be afraid of spending yourself in service for there is no better way to grow in power and grace and in the appreciation of your fellows than just that.

If you would make good in your field forget yourself and put all your energy into the job. Live happily with other people. A desert island is a lonely place yet some boys and girls seem to be fitting themselves for that sort of life. The only person they can abide is their own self. There is no fun in that, and no growth.

BRIAN, SMITH AND MARCH IN NEW YORK

Movie Stars Spend Holidays Enjoying Selves in Metropolis

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

New York —(CPA)— They are practically running a shuttle train between Hollywood and New York. Mary Brian, Stanley Smith, and Frederic March, whom we beheld as fellow lunchers on the Paramount lot only yesterday or thereabouts must have hopped the next caboose for Manhattan, because here they are. And they have entered with zest into the life of the big metropolis. Which is to say, they are going to the movies.

Between making pictures at the studios in Astoria, Long Island, the three of them have patronized practically every movie theatre on or near Broadway. And the regular theatres, too. Just as the sailors hire a rowboat in Central Park during shore leave.

For Mary Brian it is the first trip to New York in three years. Outside of movies and the theatre, she is intent on a furore of shopping. Stanley Smith, at the moment on a brief holiday in Savannah, varies his trips to the movies by trips on the subway. He likes to get into a subway train catch-as-catch-can, travel to the end of the route, and then try to guess where he is without asking anybody. Once, looking for the Battery aquarium, he landed in the bronx.

Frederic March has a yen for riding back and forth on the ferries, to watch the somewhat publicized but still impressive skyline.

It will be six weeks before this trio return to Hollywood. Meanwhile, another metropolitan experience is making talkies in studios which are piled one above the other, floor above floor, instead of being spread out over ten acre lots as they are in the less congested cinema capital.

COUNCILS MAY REVISE BOARD'S ESTIMATES

Madison—(AP)—A city council has the right to revise the amount of a school board's estimate of levy and a city treasurer is an ex-office treasurer of school funds, the attorney general has ruled in an opinion to John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction. In Port Washington, the superintendent said, the board treasurer has continued to act as such and voters have not chosen to adopt the city school plan. This is no violation of the statute, the attorney general said.

7 PLAYERS WIN WAY INTO GOLF TOURNEY FINALS

President's Cup Will Be Awarded to Winner of Third Round Play

Kaukauna— Seven golfers in the Kaukauna Golf club handicap tournament being held at the Kaukauna golf course won their way into the third round of the tournament over the weekend. They are: W. R. Harwood, Gordon Mulholland, W. Haas, S. J. Berens, F. Olm, S. Esler, and Ben Prugh.

Several matches in both the first and second rounds are still to be played. Thirty-eight players started the tournament several weeks ago. After a week's play handicaps were determined and actual play in the tournament started.

The tournament will last about two more weeks. The winner will be presented with the President's trophy, which was donated by Ben Prugh, president of the club. W. R. Harwood, second vice-president of the club, is chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements of the tourney.

HEIMKE BIRD WINS FLIGHT FROM BELOIT

Kaukauna—Poor time was made by birds flown by the Kaukauna Pigeon club in a race from Beloit Sunday. A bird of the Frank Heimke loft took first place, flying the distance of 150 miles in five hours, eight minutes and 57 seconds. The birds had to fly through rain most of the way.

The next race will be held from DeKalb, Ill., a flying distance of 200 miles. This will be the last official timed race this fall. Louis Chizek is leading with the best time made for the flights held this fall.

MAKING OF CARS SHOWED SLIGHT JUMP IN AUGUST

Production Made Somewhat Better Than Had Been Hoped for

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Detroit—(C. P. A.)—August as a production month for the automobile factories showed somewhat better than had been hoped for. One reason for the showing was that most of the vacation periods happened to be concentrated in July, particularly in the final two weeks of that month. August found nearly all the producers getting back to work on a part-time basis, which is being continued through September.

What the September showing may be still is a matter of doubt, because volume is still being held to rigid limits, definitely below trade requirements.

This is being done as a matter of precaution, conforming to sound business judgment. Still adhering to the policy of controlled output forced by delayed buying, plant managers are keeping operations well within the scope of gross national sales as shown by forecasts based on monthly surveys. This is apparent in the plan Ford is following, since work was resumed in July. His manufacturing is being held to four days each week, and as to further revision of schedules, either up or down, officials are noncommittal.

When delayed buying overflows the pent-up point that it must soon reach, the low-priced cars will feel the stimulus first, in the belief of executives. Pointing to this conclusion, they argue that the average man's use of automobiles and commercial cars has undergone a tremendous increase since the plants experienced their last dull period in 1920 and 1921.

As a means of conserving resources and reducing factory expense, certain plants are producing reserve supplies of parts and are operating assembly line alone as required to keep distrribution going. In this manner cost of operation is reduced to a minimum while output is being sustained.

GANDHI'S FAN MAIL SWAMPS HIS KEEPERS

Poona Bombay Presidency—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the move for India's independence, in jail here, receives as much mail as an American movie star. It comes from everywhere—"salt and pepper" letters the jail authorities call them.

Some of the letters are lengthy, others are short. Many contain suggestions as to what Mr. Gandhi and his followers ought to do to win their fight.

Prison officials say that a "surprising" number are from the United States, and that several American correspondents have written several times wondering why their letters have not been answered.

In the first place, the keepers explain, the nationalist chief who is being held "during the pleasure of the government" under a regulation of 1827, could possibly keep up with all this "fan mail," even if he wanted to and, secondly, the letters will not be turned over to him until the day he walks out of prison.

FIND CABBAGE AND POTATO CROPS ARE WAY BELOW NORMAL

BY W. F. WINSEY

Green Bay — A widely extended survey of the cabbage and potato fields of Brown and Outagamie-cos. the present week convinced the writer that contrary to forecasts of big yields, the average yield of late potatoes cannot exceed 25 per cent of cabbage late cabbage will be about 35 per cent of a normal crop. The yields of these two farm products are as high in Brown and Outagamie-cos. as in any counties of northeastern Wisconsin.

While there are some fine yields of corn in low lying fields, there are enough low yields in high ground fields to cut the average yield down to 65 per cent of normal.

The hay crop, owing to frost damage in April, the persistent drowth and hot weather, and using the second crops of clovers and alfalfa for pasture, is only a third of a normal crop.

The apple crop is almost a total failure on the farms, and the yields of garden vegetables will be exceedingly low.

Sugar beets, although promising early in the growing season yields ranging from 10 to 15 tons per acre will, probably, yield no more than an average of 6 or 7 tons per acre. A considerable part of the foliage that covered the ground in the earlier part of the season has been stripped from the plants and cannot be duplicated under the most favorable growing conditions during the balance of the season.

Fields peas were almost a complete failure, early canning peas about 10 per cent of a normal crop, late canning peas about 30 per cent of a normal crop, canning beans about 35 per cent of a normal crop.

Pasture, except sweet clover, red clover and alfalfa, has been almost a complete failure throughout the grazing season this year, owing to frost-killing in April, too early grazing and the long continued drouth. Adequate recovery of the fields cannot be expected under the most favorable growing conditions during the balance of the season. For months, farmers have been feeding hay and lately green corn to make up for the excessive shortage of pasture. Some of the farmers, however, who had thrown an anchor to the windward n time, turned their cattle into alfalfa and red clover fields that they had been reserved for hay. Feeding hay from storage, and growing alfalfa and red clover during the summer and at the present time will cause a shortage of feeds for the winter on a large number of farms.

The new seedings of alfalfa, clovers and timothy are very thin and sickly and sugest very thin stands next spring.

PUMP WATER TO IRRIGATE FARMS

Shallow Wells Furnish Moisture to Aid Crops in Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb. —(AP)— Pump irrigation has doubled crop production in central Nebraska sections where rainfall is uncertain and ditch irrigation is limited by uneven terrain.

Once considered a risky experiment, irrigation by pumping now is regarded as crop insurance.

Each of 320 wells now in use is sufficient to water 55 acres in this section, where 67,000 acres of rich farm land is under laid by a coarse water-bearing gravel.

Wells sunk to a depth of 10 to 20 feet produce a ready supply of water.

Production of corn, potatoes and sugar beets has doubled — even trebled—under this type of irrigation. Potatoes have yielded as high as 200 bushels an acre, while unirrigated fields immediately adjacent have produced only 90 bushels.

When an irrigation well is sunk, it is located at the highest point available with regard to fields to be served. From this point a main ditch is excavated along the highest field line, and from this the laterals are dug.

Exclusive of power for operating, wells for irrigation have been put into operation at an expenditure of from $500 to $3,000. Many are pumped by tractor power where electric current is not available.

TOURIST BUSINESS RANKS 2ND IN STATE

Madison —(AP)— Only the automobile industry outranks the tourist industry in Wisconsin, according to the state conservation commission.

Last year the tourist industry brought more than $134,000,000 into the state, highway commission figures reveal. The statistics indicate that the industry is 43 per cent greater than the manufacture of butter; 39 per cent greater than the cheese industry; 57 per cent greater than the manufacture of condensed and evaporated milk; 34 per cent greater than the manufacture of pulp.

The conservation commission cited the figures to emphasize the need for more forest fire prevention efforts to conserve the industry's resources.

KIDDIES' CLUB

London—A club exclusively for children has been built here by Bernard Baron at a cost of more than $325,000. In it are shower-baths, inside cricket and football fields with electric flood lights. Also, there is a theatre, swimming pool, toboggan run and two splendidly equipped gymnasiums. On the roof is a beautiful flower garden.

RADIO POPULAR AMONG INDIANS REPORT SHOWS

Many Redmen Own Receiving Sets and Many Others Are Broadcasting Stars

BY ROBERT MACK

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Washington —(CPA)— Indians are among America's leading radio enthusiasts Not only do the original Americans constitute an important part of this nation's great radio audience, but they have contributed liberally to the army of artists who perform regularly over broadcasting stations.

The place of the American Indian in radio was the subject of extended testimony during a hearing before the federal radio commission today between two Oklahoma broadcasting stations. One station claimed a preferred right to the other station's assignment because of its service to the Indians while the other sought to defend its assignment largely on the same theory.

Recently Commissioner Harold A. LaFount made a trip through the southwestern states with the largest Indian population. He made a special study of the effect of radio on the Indians.

INDIANS MARVEL

"Like all other people," he said today, "The Indians marvel at radio and the results obtained. To them there is something divine in pulling good music, including their native songs and instrumental offerings, out of the air."

Many broadcasting stations plan programs to aid the Indian children in their school work besides providing wholesome entertainment. In addition to this, radio helps the Indian to understand the English language.

Several weeks ago the United States government made a survey of the use of radio among the Indians and found that a high percentages of them owned receiving sets. It was found also that in some sections the Indians would gather in groups around a single receiving set.

"Living as they do," Commissioner LaFount said, "in remote sections, the radio has brought much sunshine into their lives, broadening their vision and giving them a much better understanding of modern America and its institutions. Many speeches based on government activities are broadcast for their special benefit."

37 PERSONS KILLED BY HEAT IN JULY

Madison—(AP)—During July, 1930, the extreme heat caused 37 deaths in Wisconsin, almost as many as were killed during that month of the four preceding years, the state board of health announced today.

Nine persons died from heat prostration in Milwaukee county, Grant county had three deaths from this cause while Manitowoc, Rock and St. Croix counties had two each. Nineteen other counties had one heat fatality.

In July, 1921, there were only seven deaths attributed to the heat. There were 11 deaths in July, 1926, and as many in July, 1927 while July, 1929, there were 13 deaths. The majority of the victims in July, 1930, were from 40 to 60 years old, the board said.

Your Question And Its Answer

Palmer Chiropractor

QUESTION: I am continually troubled with sleeplessness and nervousness that keeps me awake for hours after I go to bed. No one has been able to tell me what causes it, can you? — H. J. S.

ANSWER: There is nothing of the mysterious in Chiropractic. It is something everyone can understand. Your symptoms are merely effects, and back of the every effect there must be a cause. Find the cause of your trouble, adjust it, and the effect disappears. Briefly stated, this is Chiropractic. And Chiropractic is different from any other health method on earth. Why, simply because an examination of the spine will always account for the true cause of the patient's illness.

There is nothing unusual about your symptoms. A spinal analysis will enable us to give you definite advice and counsel.

QUESTION: I am a woman of thirty-nine and need advice. Am not at all strong, hardy able to do my housework, no appetite, rest poorly at night, have headaches and my back aches across the hips. Will adjustments be all right considering my weakness? — Mrs. J. H.

ANSWER: With such symptoms as you have named, why continue to neglect your health? Reliable, trustworthy advice resulting from thorough training and experience in the Drugless Science of Chiropractic is at your service to solve your health problems thus insuring you both health and happiness.

Spinal Adjustments offer you a systematic, practical, mechanical and exact method of restoring you to health. There is nothing about your case, as you have presented it, that should make you feel that hope is gone. We advise an immediate spinal analysis to reveal just what is causing your extreme weakness.

Prompted by a desire to give the public a chance to be correctly informed about Chiropractic, I have adopted this method to spread the better knowledge of Chiropractic as a possible method of correcting the cause of sickness and interests of better health.

With Art "Lefty" Behr pitching like a big leaguer and with the club's heavy guns cracking the ball for 13 hits, one a homer, August Brandt's Fords wound up the 1930 Valley league baseball season in a most fitting and pleasing manner by giving Green Bay a shellacking, 8 to 0.

Behr whiffed seven batters which is a bit less than he did on other occasions but was as stingy as a Scotchman with his hits and gave but three, one in the first inning, one in the third and one in the seventh. The hits were of little use however, for not a Green Sox player saw the third sack and only two saw second.

Johnny Rowe, the Bay's kid hurler opposed Behr and registered 10 strikeouts, thanks to some of the Fords who were hitting at bad balls. The youngster gave 13 hits, however, one of them a lusty home run by Sonny Tornow in the first frame with a mate on the paths. He also issued five passes, two to Bowers, two to Sonny Tornow, and one to Len Smith.

The Fords went out and sewed up the old ball game in the very first inning. Bowers was first up and cracked the first ball pitched for a single to center. He was killed off at second on a fielder's choice which gave Len Smith a life. Leo Murphy lofted to right field and Tornow came to the plate. He proceeded to take picks on the first pitch and hit it so far over the right field fence it was seen to splash in the rushes along the river bank.

A double play by the Bays stopped the any scoring in the second inning but the third saw one more run marked up. Bowers singled down first base way and went to second when Len Smith smashed a drive through the box into center field. Murphy whiffed and Tornow smacked a single into center and Bowers counted.

The fourth inning saw Mulry hit a double with two away and die on second base. Bowers started things in the fifth with a walk and went to third on Len Smith's single to right, the play at the sack being mighty close. Then Murphy hit to Fonferik who nipped Bowers at the plate. Tornow was purposely passed to fill the bases and Eggert waved three times at a friend out on the left field wall. That brought Crowe to the rubber and he counted Smith and Murphy with a single over second base.

No scores were counted in the sixth and seventh frames although men were on bases each time. In the eighth Mulry singled and stole second. Behr and Bowers lofted after the former hit the ball out of the lot, the blow being foul by only a few feet. Len Smith drew a walk and there were two on when Leo Murphy came to the plate.

Murphy hit a grounder at Rosenberg at first base, the ball hitting a stone and bounding high over the first sacker's head, Mulry scored on the blow, Smith going to third and scoring on a passed ball a minute later.

The eighth and last run came in the final frame when Crowe was safe of G. Zuidmulder's error and went to second and third on passed balls by Glick. He scored on Behr's single down the third base line.

Hits and Errors

Bowers celebrated his return to the game by getting two hits, two walks and flying out twice for a .500 mark for the day's toil. He also has one putout, a flyball right back of third base.

The game was postponed more than an hour so that Packer football practice wouldn't keep the fans away from the ball game. The result was that the turnout was one of the largest of the season. Members of the legion band furnished music during the battle which gave it a sort of football atmosphere.

Heberling, the Bay centerfielder, robbed Bowers of a beautiful hit in the ninth frame. Bowers connected with one of the Rowe's slants and the pill looked as though it would land outside the centerfield fence. But Heberling was off at the crack of the bat and galloped to the boards where he snagged the ball with one of the greatest catches of the season. What Bowers said was plenty.

Eddie Glick, Bay catcher, didn't give a whoop whether school kept or not in the late innings. G. Zuidmulder's two errors sort of upset the Green Sox catcher and he let several balls get by him after that.

Three double players were pulled, two by the Bays and one by the Fords. One of the Bay twin killings was Clusman to Fonferik to Rosenberg, the other Fonferik to G. Zuidmulder to Rosenberg. The Fords got their two men via Behr to Tornow to Eggert.

Quite a number of Appleton fans journeyed up to the Bay for the last game. They made themselves known every time Tornow or Behr came to the plate by giving each of the boys a hand. Mulry also came in for a share of the applause the folks remembering his homer in the eleventh last week against Kaukauna.

Carroll Expects To Regain Big Four Football Title

Waukesha —(AP)— Shunted from the football championship of the Big Four college conference in 1929 after winning the title for five successive years, Carroll college is looking forward to regaining honors this fall.

When Coach Norris Armstrong starts his eighth season here Sept. 15 he will find a veteran team on hand to begin practice. There are 13 lettermen on his roll and he will be able to put an experienced eleven on the field when the Pioneers open their season against Loyola at Chicago on Sept. 26.

Under leadership of Capt. Clifford Goerke, Waukesha triple threat halfback, the Carroll backfield is expected to be fast and shifty with an assorted array of talent. McConn, who worked with Goerke last year, will be his running mate, while the fullback post will be decided between Huddleston and Hemp, both letter winners. Huddleston started as a regular last season, but injuries put him on the sidelines, and Hemp replaced him. Orlebeke, veteran quarterback, is expected to direct the Pioneers and do the punting.

A letterman for every line position will report to Armstrong. LeVerdure and Gallup held the tackle posts in 1929, and these rangy players are expected to receive first call again this year. Two huskies are returning to cinch the guard posts for another year. They are Calvert and Schmidt. Two years of varsity experience are expected to clinch the pivot spot for West, an accurate passing and strong defensive center.

Coach Armstrong should have little worry regarding his ends as long as Smith and Bruinooge are uninjured. They were 1929 regulars and are looked to play the wings again this fall.

The Pioneers report a keen supply of upcoming sophomores, who may earn places on the varsity. With a long list of seniors, Armstrong is expected to devote considerable time to grooming sophomores to take their places in 1931. Dillingski, who gained his first competitive experience on the Waukesha high school team in 1926 with Goerke, is the most promising of the lot, while Thiel, Jensen and Mehl also are regarded highly.

The Carroll schedule:

Sept. 26—Loyola, Chicago
Oct. 4—Open
Oct. 11—Northwestern University "B"
Oct. 18—At Beloit college
Oct. 25—At Lawrence college, Appleton
Nov. 1—Northwestern college, Watertown
Nov. 8—Ripon college
Nov. 15—Open
Nov. 22—Lake Forest (Ill.) college.

YANK POLO TEAM WINS FIRST MATCH

British Hold Americans for Three Periods and Then Fade

Westbury, N. Y.—(AP)—The American polo team led by Tommy Hitchcock, is a prohibitive favorite to beat Great Britain in the second match of the international polo series on Wednesday and retain the Westchester cup, held by this country since 1921.

So impressive did the cup defenders win the first game on Saturday, 10-5, that experts concede Great Britain little or no chance to salvage even one game out of the series. A third game, if necessary, will be played Saturday.

Both teams probably will stand pat on the lineup they used Saturday yesterday. The British riders are seriously handicapped by a scarcity of reserve material due to injuries and sickness.

The challengers put up a gallant fight for four periods, holding the Americans to a 5-3 count, but in the last half, Hitchcock and his mates piled up five more goals while holding the invaders to two.

STATE BIKE RIDERS WINNERS OF 2 TITLES

A team of Kenosha brothers, Bobby Thomas, 18, and George, 15, rode to victory yesterday in the senior and junior events respectively with perfect scores of 20 points each. It was the first time in national races that a brother team took the meet.

Predent De Lille, New Jersey, and Frank Keating, New York, tied for second in the senior division and Henry O'Brien, California, was third. In a special mile race with De Lille, Keating placed first.

In the junior division, Otto Luedeke, New Jersey, was second and Sid Jablonowski, Illinois, was third.

PRO GOLFERS READY FOR P. G. A. TOURNEY

The course is 6,500 yards with a par of 35-35—70.

HACK WILSON SETS NEW N. L. RECORD

New York — (AP) — Hack Wilson, clubbing outfielder for the Cubs, has established a new National league record for runs batted in for one season.

Wilson now has driven in 160 runs, compared to the league record of 159 he set last season. With eighteen games yet to go, Wilson has a chance to eclipse the major league record of 175 established by Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees in 1927.

KIM-CHUTERS ARE BEATEN AT RAPIDS

Central Wisconsin Team Wins League Pennant With Final Victory

Wisconsin Rapids — The Wisconsin Rapids baseball team clinched the Fox River Valley league pennant here Sunday afternoon by shutting out the Kimberly-Little Chute club, 7 to 0.

Wisconsin Rapids will meet Racine, champions of the state league, in a series of three games to decide the Wisconsin championship. The first of the series will be played at Racine next Sunday, the second here on Sept. 21, and the third at the park showing the largest gate receipts for the first two games.

Specs Eastling, Rapids left handed twirler, let the visitors down with only four hits. Hammen, Kim-Little Chute southpaw, allowed seven hits. He worked with J. Lamers, son of Marty Lamers, the club manager, to complete a battery of 18-year-old comers.

The visitors threatened in the second inning when the bases were loaded with two away. Eastling pulled himself out of that hole by striking out the batter and only once after that did Kim-Little Chute get a man to third.

2,000 FANS WATCH BAY PACKERS IN WORKOUT

Green Bay — (AP)—A special detail of police was necessary to care for the crowd of 2,000 watching the Green Bay Packers, national professional football champions, in their first practice yesterday. About 24 men were put through the paces by Capt. Lambeau in preparation for the Packers' game with the Oshkosh All-Stars next Sunday.

GALLETT, BRENNAN WIN PRO-AMATEUR

PLAY REVERSIBLE GOLF OVER LAST 9 HOLES AT B. D. M.

Riverside golf, with the greens used as tees and the tees as greens proved an unusual sporting proposition with members of Butte des Morts golf club Sunday. The stunt was pulled on the last nine holes where the greens have been torn up and replanted.

Whether it was the fun of playing the first nine holes in regulation style and the last nine backyard, or what, Sunday saw one of the largest turnouts this season, club attaches said.

Reversing the last nine holes made some tricky putting areas on several holes especially the seventeenth, the thirteenth and the twelfth.

St. Louis Cardinals Cut Bruin Lead To 2 1-2 Games By Defeating Reds Twice

New York Yankees Almost Out of Race After Losing to Boston

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National league pennant depends on the final intersectional series western clubs playing in the east and this raises the hopes of the third-place Giants.

The Giants have done well so far this season in entertaining westerners, while the Cubs have turned in about as many victories in the east as their stay-at-home rivals.

The St. Louis Cardinals now hold second place and are closer to the league leading Cubs than any team has been for some time.

The Cards fell down in their first visits to the east, but since then have had a great string of victories in their own section. Both at home and on the road and have moved from fourth place into second, only 2½ games behind the league leaders.

CARDS WIN TWO

A double victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, 11 to 6 and 4 to 2, made seven straight victories and a clean sweep of the eleven home games against Cincinnati. The Cubs and the Giants both lost single games, leaving the Cards only 2½ games away from the leaders and 1½ games ahead of New York.

While Rhem and Haines were holding the Reds in check, the latter with a five hit performance, four Cub pitchers failed to stop Pittsburgh. The Cubs overcame one Pittsburgh lead only to have the Pirates score six runs in the last three innings for a 9 to 7 triumph. The Giants found the Brooklyn jinx working during a one-game visit to Flatbush. Dazzy Vance did most of the jinxing while the Robins supported him with timely hitting and brilliant fielding to win 5 to 2.

Two teams which are clear out of the running put the leaders to shame in yesterday's performances as the Phillies and the Boston Braves split a double header. Philadelphia won the first 1 to 0, although Ed Brandt allowed only two hits while Phil Collins gave the Braves seven. Boston turned the tables in the second, winning 2 to 1 although Ray Benge outpitched Harry Seibold to the extent of five hits to eight.

A'S ALMOST CINCH FLAG

The Philadelphia Athletics were all set to put the American league pennant away in their locker after two innings against Washington, but the Senators, after losing a game on Saturday, scored two runs in the ninth to win, 7 to 6. The champions assaulted Sad Sam Jones for five runs in the second inning then saw their lead trickle away as Fred Marberry pitched them into submission.

The New York Yankees tottered on the verge of mathematical elimination from the race as they dropped the first game of a twin bill to the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3, but recovered by winning the second game, 5 to 2, and retained the bare possibility of beating out the leaders.

The Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns ended their season's play all square when the Browns pounded out a 9 to 6 victory in their rain-hampered final clash.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Readfield 3, Corners 1.
Shiocton 4, New London 2.

Readfield sewed up the pennant in the Central Wisconsin league Sunday afternoon by defeating Murphy's Corners in a pitcher's duel, 3 and 1, while Appleton was taking a trimming from Weyauwega. The Readfield-Corners game was a hurler's duel, A. Wing of Readfield being opposed by Kranzusch of the Corners.

Seven errors beat the Appleton Merchants at Weyauwega, the score being 7 and 1. Laabs hurled for the Merchants and pitched good ball but could not overcome his mate's miscues. With Readfield out in front by two games and only one more left on the schedule, the Merchants have withdrawn their protest in the Shiocton game.

The third game on the league card went to Shiocton, New London being the loser. The score was 4 and 2.

What the Stars Did Yesterday

Flint Rhem and Jess Haines, Cardinals—Pitched effectively to beat Reds in both ends of double header.

Fred Marberry, Senators—Went in as relief pitcher in second inning, held A's to two hits and beat them, 7-6.

Record Field Entered In American Amateur Tourney

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS
Copyright 1930

Chicago—Thirty States, one territory and three divisions of the British empire will be represented in the field of 170 that will compete in the thirty-six hole qualifying test of the United States amateur golf championship at Merion Cricket club, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 23 and 24. The field is one of the largest to be admitted to the championship in several years and certainly the most widespread in its representation.

Because of the proximity of Merion to the large centers of the east, Pennsylvania and New York leads in entries. Each of those states will have thirty-one candidates for a shot at the title now held by Harrison Johnston and Illinois will have sixteen. California and Massachusetts rank next in numbers with ten while Texas has seven and Oregon six. Canada is sending a squad of twelve and England and Scotland each will be represented by three.

Included in the field are eleven who have held the amateur championship and they represent sixteen victories. H. Chandler Egan, who first won the title back in 1904 when a resident of Chicago, is the veteran of the champions' brigade and Bill Fownes of Pittsburgh, who won in 1910, is second in age. Egan and Chick Evans each won the title twice while Bob Jones has had it four times.

It will be the first time Egan has played in a championship along the eastern front in many summers. He retired from the titular field some years ago but returned last summer when the venue was at Pebble Beach and marched to the semi-finals where it took a lot of golf by Dr. O. F. Willing to quench the fire in the veteran's briar pipe. Egan was attacked by the golf fever after his success at Del Monte and now is coming back from Oregon to try his shots at Merion.

Bob Jones is not taking the challenge he must meet at Merion, to regain the amateur title and make a clean sweep for his season's play, lightly. The emperor was shooting both the old and new sourses at East Lake in low figures some weeks ago and recently went up into North Carolina for a rest and a lot of golf practice. Reports from that locality tell of Bob shooting a 67 and 59 over a tough, rugged layout, so its likely he will land at Merion a few days hence with all of his clubs obeying orders.

The British army is going to have a crack at the championship for among the entries are: Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley of the Royal and J. R. A. Stroyan from the same club. However, the military gentlemen probably will be among those unplaced after the qualifying rounds.

The U. S. G. A. wisely has admitted a large number of youngsters to the qualifying rounds. Some of the newcomers are bound to develop into the successors of the present crop of stars and will lend interest to the qualifying rounds that usually are dull. Last year W. Lawson Little of San Francisco attracted quite a bit of attention and if he has speeded up his game may make it tough for a veteran or two in the eighteen hole rounds.

One entrant not to be overlooked is Johnny Goodman of Omaha. He's the young man who beat Bob Jones in the first round of the 1929 championship and he has been playing fine golf all this season. Goodman will test any player's game over eighteen holes and if he qualifies may travel several rounds unless the long march over Merion tires him out.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago—(AP)—About the only battle left in the American association — unless Louisville folds up completely—is the batting tussle between Bevo Lebourveau of Toledo, and Charlie High of Minneapolis.

After leading the Hickey circuit for nearly two months, Lebourveau slipped last week and the Miller outfielder took a short lead. Lebourveau saw no action yesterday, while High got into only part of one game of a doubleheader, and did not get to bat, leaving things as they were.

Louisville finished the weekend with a four-game lead over St. Paul, winning Saturday and Sunday, while the Giants were losing Saturday and winning a pair yesterday. The Colonels outslugged Columbus in the opener of their final series yesterday to win by 11 to 6.

The Colonels suffered the loss of Catcher Thompson, possibly for the remainder of the season, when one of Phil Weinert's pitches split one of the backstop's fingers.

Wiley Moore pitched St. Paul to a 6 to 3 victory over Kansas City in the first game, to account for his twenty-second triumph of the season, and Don Hankins and Vernon Gomez divided the hurling in the second, which the Saints won by 7 to 4.

Toledo and Indianapolis split their double header, the Mud Hens taking the first, 4 to 3, and losing the other, 9 to 3. Sarge George Connally won his own game with a single with two men on in the ninth inning of the first game.

Rube Benton turned up with a five-hit pitching performance to give Minneapolis an 8 to 1 decision in the second game of a double-header, after Milwaukee had won the opener, 5 to 3. Tom Jenkins accounted for three of the five blows. Malcolm Moss was batted from the box by the Brewers in the first game, but Bud Tinning, just in from Des Moines of the Western league, held Milwaukee to five hits and one earned run in eight and a fraction innings.

CUBS START EAST WITH SMALL LEAD

Open With 3 Game Series With Robins; Also Meet Giants, Phils

Chicago—(AP)— Manager Joe McCarthy made a prediction that the Cubs would win the National league championship if they had a four-game lead when they went east for the last time.

The club left Chicago last night for Brooklyn, leading the race by a margin of two and one-half games over the St. Louis Cardinals, but neither McCarthy nor any of his men is even thinking of losing despite the game and on-half deficit.

The make or break raid through the east will start tomorrow at Brooklyn where three games will be played. Four games in three days at Philadelphia come next, followed by three at New York. The jaunt will wind up with four games in Boston.

Cincinnati, nemesis of the Cubs all season, will close the schedule with a doubleheader and a pair of singles in Wrigley field. If the Bruins manage to build up a winning percentage in the east, they will have three days of rest before engaging the Reds at Chicago, and probably will need them badly.

Pat Malone will hurl the first game against Brooklyn. The rest of the pitching staff was in poor condition as the club left. Root and Blake are on the injured list, while Guy Bush was tired out by having worked in three of the last four games.

ALL-STARS BEATEN AT GREEN BAY, 5 TO 1

Appleton All-Star softball team lost a 5 and 1 decision Sunday morning to the Green Bay Collegians at Green Bay. The Bays got six hits off Mortell, hurler for the Stars, while Appleton connected for four safeties.

Mortell whiffed 10 batsmen, but ragged play afield caused him trouble. A hit, two errors and a walk in the fifth gave the Bays four of their five runs.

A week from Sunday the Bays will play the Stars a return game here. The Stars now are working for a game with the Fluors to decide supremacy. The Oshkosh team won one game recently and the SStars won the second.

DISGRACE

THE last person Brynmor had wanted to see was Freddy Mason. Surely the fellow had sense enough to know that. Yet what could he do about it under the circumstances?

Clarice herself answered the ring. They heard the click-click of the wooden heels of her mules grow louder as she ran down the corridor. She saw Brynmor first.

"Oh, Bryn, darling—" she began. Then she caught sight of Freddy Mason, and the color instantly fled from her cheeks For a moment Brynmor thought she was going to faint.

"W-w-why, I don't—"

Clarice clung limply against the door, apparently unable to speak or move. Brynmor somehow felt sorry for her. Why should Mason have taken it into his head to intrude in this way?

"What's the meaning of all this?" he demanded.

Mason continued to walk down the corridor toward Clarice's room. "Come along, Whittamore," he flung over his shoulder. "You're going to hear a certain little story that may amuse you, and again it may not."

Terrified, Clarice flung her arms around Brynmor.

"Don't listen to him, Bryn, darling," she begged hysterically. "Go away, please. Come back later—"

Before he could reply, Mason intervened.

"It's no use, Clary. He's going to hear it now, straight from the shoulder. If he still wants to marry you afterward, that's his affair.

"Come along," he added, since neither Brynmor nor Clarice moved. "Let's make ourselves comfortable. This may be a long sitting, you know."

Clarice fidgeted on the divan.

"No, I'll tell him myself," she said decisively. "After all, this is my story."

Her small body, under the flowing red dress, was rigid, and her white ringed hands were clenched at her sides.

"I'm going to tell you everything, Bryn. I'm not afraid." She threw a contemptuous glance in Mason's direction, but he continued to maintain an air of indifference. "I'm going to tell you the whole story of my life, right from the beginning. . . ."

Brynmor leaned forward. He said nothing, but his head was awhirl with questions. What was the cause of all this?

"I never had any parents to speak of," she resumed. "I was brought up in the slums—a gutter kid. But I had big ideas in my head, and I wanted to do things, become a great dancer. I had lots of talent, but no money and no training. And I needed training to get out of the rut.

"When I was 15 I got a dancing job in a cheap cabaret in the East End. That's where I met Freddy. He took an interest in me, offered me money for lessons and nice clothes. Well, I took the money. What else could I do? It was that or nothing.

"In return, I've been helping him from time to time." It seemed difficult for her to continue, but she did so resolutely. "Yes, you may as well know it. Freddy's a crook. High class jobs, night clubs and the like, are his specialty. . . ."

Her voice broke off suddenly. The horror in Brynmor's eyes seemed to deprive her of speech Yet she couldn't see anything very dreadful in what she'd told him already. The worst part was to come . . . that telephone call last night.

Brynmor had a sinking sensation. Several times before he had suspected that Freddy Mason wasn't on the level, yet the truth shocked him profoundly. And Clarice—it wasn't possible to believe that she had been mixed up with him!

Obsessed by a sudden idea, he stammered, "That night—the robbery at the Emerald Dragon?"

She nodded, and her lips quivered. Brynmor felt his head reel. This was awful! He had expected something unpleasant—but nothing like this. Clarice—a thief. It was unthinkable!

"Yes, I helped Freddy in that," she admitted, more calmly now. "I couldn't avoid doing so. Besides, I didn't know that you meant to marry me—then Ever since we've been engaged I haven't done a thing you might be ashamed of. I—I love you, Bryn I've always wanted to marry a chap like you, clean, decent, straight—"

Her voice cracked. For once, the tears on her cheeks were real. She wasn't shamming any longer, and she realized suddenly that she hated sham. Yet what a lot of it had been in her life!

She was glad, however, that she had told Brynmor. It was a distinct relief to her. Whatever happened as a result, she was glad that her cards, for once, were face up on the table

Still there was silence. Mason seemed to be enjoying it She muttered again, half to her self, "I do love you, Bryn." And she knew it was true.

Brynmor stared down at the pattern in the rug. There was perplexity written on his face He seemed to be in a daze.

"There's something more, too," Clarice choked. The worst was to come After that, she felt that nothing could save her. "Last night Freddy came in and we talked. Then, later, after he had gone—"

"Leave that part to me, Clary." Mason broke in. He was smiling triumphantly. "I'll explain the rest. You look all tired out.

"You see, Whittamore, last night Clary told me that she couldn't possibly go through with the wedding without first telling you about her connection with me. I argued with her, and told her not to be such a fool. I urged her to go ahead and marry you, and leave this matter unmentioned Then I wished her good luck, but she wouldn't agree to my plan.

"She insisted that you must know it all. So I promised her to come here tonight and support her story while she told you . That's it, isn't it, dear?"

It was obvious that Mason was lying, but Brynmor felt too weak to do anything about it. He buried his face in his hands

For a moment Clarice stared at him. Then she collapsed, threw herself on the couch, and her whole body was wracked by long shuddering sobs.

When she did glance up, after a few minutes, Brynmor was standing beside her, staring down at her. His face was wooden and expressionless. She clenched her hands about the cushion, then rose to her feet abruptly.

"Go away, Bryn, please," she pleaded. "For my sake please go!"

Brynmor put his hands to his head. Life in the past had been easy for him—too easy. Now it was anything but easy. He realized, with a strange sense of self-loathing, that he hadn't really loved Clarice nearly so much as he had imagined.

As a matter of fact, Brynmor's thoughts weren't concentrated on Clarice at the moment. He was thinking especially of his father, of his father's name which was his name, of Whittamore family pride and family tradition.

"If I only knew what to do —" he blurted out.

"Don't worry about it, Bryn. I guess I've known all along that it was only infatuation. But I didn't care—then."

He didn't have the heart to reassure her. Perhaps she was right. Just now Brynmore wasn't sure of anything.

"Please go," Clarice whispered. "And don't—ever come back."

He stumbled to the door, and Mason opened it for him.

"Be good to her, Mason," he stammered.

Freddy smiled. "You never had a chance, Whittamore She always was my kid."

The door shut and Brynmor made his way down the stairs. Never had he been so disgraced.

"Fool!" he exclaimed to himself. "I'll never dare judge anyone again as long as I live!"

9 PROGRESSIVES TO STUMP STATE IN LAST 10 DAYS

93 Addresses, Including Five Radio Talks, to Further LaFollette Campaign

Madison—(AP)—As the pre-primary campaign swings into its last 10 days, eight speakers and Philip F. LaFollette, Progressive candidate for the Republican nomination as governor, will further his candidacy in 93 addresses, including five radio talks, in all sections of Wisconsin during this week.

Mr. LaFollette, who has made approximately 200 addresses since he opened his campaign at Sauk City, July 15, will confine his efforts to the lake shore with concentration in Milwaukee. He will make three public addresses there this week and will speak over radio stations there on three other occasions. He also is to speak in Waukesha on Tuesday and Union Grove on Wednesday.

The radio campaign will open Monday night when the candidate speaks over WGN, Chicago, at 7 p. m. He will speak over WTMJ, Milwaukee, at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening and at 9:45 o'clock on Friday evening. He will also speak over station WISN, Milwaukee, at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

His borther, Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, will deliver 11 addresses in his behalf during the week. His territory is along the lake shore, swinging from Green Bay down through Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Milwaukee and Racine. Wisconsin's other senator, John J. Blaine, is scheduled to speak nine times, including addresses at Marshfield, Antigo, Wausau, Green Bay, Milwaukee and Kenosha.

Herman L. Ekern, former attorney general, will spend the weekend campaigning for LaFollette. After speaking in Stoughton, on Thursday, he will go into northwestern Wisconsin for addresses at Black River Falls, Hustler, Eau Claire, Spring Valley and River Falls on Friday and Saturday.

The heaviest schedule is being undertaken by Walter D. Corrigan, Milwaukee attorney, who is making 23 addresses on a tour through central Wisconsin. Starting at Menominee Falls, Mr. Corrigan is speaking in an area bounded on the far west by Brooklyn, Dane county, north by Beaver Dam and Portage and south by Walworth, in Walworth-co.

A second speaking tour of central Wisconsin is being undertaken by William J. Morgan, former attorney general and one-time Conservative. He will open Monday evening in Oconomowoc and visit a total of 19 cities and villages before concluding at Janesville Saturday evening.

Daniel H. Grady, Portage county attorney and former member of the University of Wisconsin board of regents, will include a radio address over WCCO, Minneapolis, on Thursday. He will speak in western Wisconsin. Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber, Stoughton, himself a candidate for reelection, will speak seven times in mid-Wisconsin, while Grant Haas, Madison, former board of control member and William T. Evjue, editor of the Madison Capital Times, each will speak twice in Mr. LaFollette's behalf.

BORGLUM BACKING MEMORIAL PLANS

Deed for Property on Stone Mountain Turned Over to City of Atlanta

Atlanta —(AP)— A new and larger conception of a Stone Mountain memorial to the Confederacy was advanced today by Gutzon Borglum, the original sculptor, whose work was blasted from the mountain several years ago after his connection with the project was terminated.

Announcement also was made that a deed for the property has been turned over to mayor-elect James L. Key for the city of Atlanta by the owners, the Venable family. The title, it was said, will be held in Escrow by Mayor Key pending its official acceptance by the city and the designation of a bonded commission to take charge of plans for completion of the memorial.

Under the deed a year was allowed for the fulfillment of that provision and another stipulation that title be obtained by the city for a space of aproximately 200 feet now held by the Stone Mountain Memorial association.

"You have got to accept responsibility for what has happened in the last five years," said Borglum at a mass meeting yesterday, "and I have faith that you are ready to do that and to unite this lovely city in the new plans."

"I stand before you as an indicted felon," Borglum said in reference to charges which were made in Dealb-co but have not been pressed during his visit. The indictments arose from the destruction of Borglum's models. Later an unsuccessful attempt was made to carry out the project with Augustus Lukeman as sculptor.

Borglum planned to leave today for his carving at Rapid City, S. D. He said he would return here when needed.

PLAN INVESTIGATION INTO AIRPLANE CRASH

Des Moines —(AP)— Investigation into the airplane crash at the Iowa state fair, Aug. 7 that fatally injured Vernon de Votie of Mitchellville has been announced for tonight.

Six witnesses have been summoned to appear before the coroner's jury to tell of the circumstances surrounding the collision in midair of planes piloted by Leo Allen and Cy Younglove.

Allen, confined to a hospital here with injuries, was released and will appear before the jury tonight. Younglove is now in Minnesota, but his manager has stated that he will return to Des Moines if the jury so desires.

May Elect Candidate Who Did Not Make One Address

Madison —(AP)— If Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, is reelected he will probably be the first man to attain the office without delivering a single campaign speech.

For three months the secretary has been in the Wisconsin General Hospital here, recuperating from a blood clot in his leg. In mid-June physicians gave up all hope for recovery and death was expected momentarily. The secretary rallied, however, and made constant improvement.

Although able to walk, Secretary Dammann is being confined to the hospital by his physicians who fear another breakdown if he is permitted to engage in the campaign.

The serious illness of Dammann serves to recall the unprecedented situation that arose in Wisconsin when Frank T. Tucker obtained the plurality of votes for attorney general although he died before election.

Through a ruling by the state supreme court, Levi Bancroft, now United States district attorney at Milwaukee, was named attorney general, having more votes than Henry A. Gunderson, the third man in the race. Tucker drowned on Sept. 1 but gained 63,482 votes in the election Sept. 6. Bancroft had 58,196 votes and Gunderson polled 47,187.

In the supreme court opinion written by Justice Barnes, the court held that a dead man was not a "person" within the meaning of the statute and that the legislature "did not intend that if a dead man received a plurality of the votes cast he became the candidate of the party and that his name must go upon the ballot, to be voted for at the ensuing general election."

In dissenting opinion, Justices Timlin, Siebecker, and Kerwin held that the electorate intended to vote for Tucker with the knowledge that the Republican state central committee would fill the vacancy caused by his death. Charles H. Crownhart, later a supreme court justice, was named to the vacancy by the committee but his selection was invalidated by the court's decision.

Your Birthday

"Virgo"

If September 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., and 10 p. m. to 11:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a. m. to 10 a. m., and 3 p. m. to 4 p. m.

"Much rainfall and little growth" describes the picture of this date. Keep to well tried paths! And unsettled and discontented mind may cause you to make a profitless change. A cloud hangs over your domestic sphere.

Children born on this September 9th will have a natural refinement, a love of harmony and considerable tact. They will have vivid imaginations, which will not lead them astray because of their logic and common-sense. They will have well developed emotions, but self-control.

If you be a woman, you have all the feminie qualities and characteristics due one of your sex and if you have the courage of your womanliness and are content to stay in your own sphere, you will be much happier, than if you seek other fields of expression. You are not a type that is fitted for the so-called man's world. Some women are born spinsters, but you are not. If you are not mothering children, you are mothering some weak sister or brother; or a devoted dog or cat.

You have an easy going disposition and although you may be too untidy or carefree to become a model housekeeper, your smile and understanding heart will feed the affections of your family. You are a natural play-mate and pal.

If you be a man, you have never been a "teacher's pet" or a "Mama's boy." You have shrieking maculine traits and you fight for all of man's rights and privileges. You have a great sense of discipline and sportsmanship and you make a good leader. You win through your grit and industry and you ask for the best the world has to offer. Your promises are sacred and you are always ready to redress grievances. You must be master in your home, or at least feel that you hold such a position. You feel yourself capable of managing your own affairs and resent interference from others. You are probably a little too self-complacent and independent. You try to hide your affections.

JAPANESE, CHINESE ARE IN ARMY STAFF SCHOOL

Fort Leavenworth, Kas —(AP)— A Japanese and a Chinese were among the 235 army officers enrolled in the United States Army command and general staff school opening here today.

They are Maj. Masafumi Yanauchi of the Japanese Imperial Army and Tsi-Ming Chow of the Chinese army.

THINK KIDNAPED MAN IS ON HIS WAY HOME

Des Moines —(AP)— James Sheridan, retired business man, was said to be on his way home, a price between $10,000 and $15,000 having been paid his alleged abductors for his liberty, The register said this morning.

Law enforcement officials believe that disclosures of the last few days indicate that three men, one a former Des Moines man, were implicated in the alleged kidnaping. The three believed to be involved in the plot were said to be from Illinois, two youthful racketeers, from Peoria conducting the actual kidnaping.

Mr. Sheridan, it was stated, paid the money Saturday, the amount being reduced from $50,000 asked originally for Sheridan's release.

A messenger to whom the money was paid said he came from Springfield, Ill., to deliver the ransom note.

KOHLER HAS MADE 80 CAMPAIGN TALKS

Governor Traveled 8,000 Miles Since He Opened His Drive for Office

Riverbend, Kohler — If miles traveled and sizes of audiences that have listened to his addresses count for anything in elections, Gov. Walter J. Kohler will win the primary contest Sept 16 with 50,000 votes to spare, for in the first four weeks of his campaign he has unquestionably waged the most intensive battle ever made by a candidate for state office in Wisconsin, Lester W. Conger, secretary of the chief executive's personal campaign committee, announced here today.

When Governor Kohler left for Milwaukee Sept 8 to spend five days in that county, he had either flown or motored more than 8,000 miles, had made exactly 80 speeches and had spoken before crowds that aggregated approximately 170,000 persons, according to figures compiled at his personal campaign headquarters at Riverbend.

In all, the chief executive had completed 72 flights in his Ryan monoplane, "Village of Kohler, Wisconsin," and had made landings at 52 different airports, flying fields and emergency farmers' fields in the state. His total air mileage since his opening campaign address in the Milwaukee auditorium Aug. 11 is 5,500 miles.

In addition, Governor Kohler has traveled more than 2,500 miles by motor car, adopting this means of transport at night and where jumps between engagements were not long enough to warrant a flight.

Larger throngs have turned out this year to hear Governor Kohler than the big crowds which attended his meetings two years ago, when Mr. Kohler first took the stump to carry his plea for a business administration directly to Wisconsin voters. In several instances he has addressed audiences aggregating between 10,000 and 15,000 persons in a single day.

CONFESSION OBTAINED IN CHICAGO MURDER

Chicago —(AP)— Without a clew to work on when Mrs. Marie Pelletier, 49, was slain over three months ago, the police of Berwyn fell back on diligence and for a reward today had a confession from Rudolph Hegovic, 21.

Mrs. Pelletier was found murdered near her home in the suburb. Her husband, Louis, who heard the fatal shot, and other members of her family could give no motive or suspicion even to assist in the search for the slayer.

But Police Chief James Mikes was convinced from the fact that the woman's purse was missing that a nervous hold-up man was responsible.

For weeks he and his men questioned every purse-snatcher arrested in Chicago. They had no luck until Hegovic was caught after stealing a purse last week from a woman on the north side. Under questioning early today, Hegovic admitted the slaying last May 22.

MAN BURNED IN CAR SUCCUMBS AT RACINE

Racine —(AP)— John Martins, 30, was fatally burned yesterday while sleeping in a parked automobile. He died at 3 a. m. today.

Returning home early yesterday with friends, Martins decided to sleep in his car. About 5 a. m. a passerby saw the car aflame and dragged Martins from it. He said he believed the cushions of the machine caught fire from a cigaret.

SCIENTIST PUSHES GULF STREAM TESTS

Matanzas, Cuba —(AP)— Professor Georges Claude, French scientist, expected today to proceed at once with development of his scheme to produce inexpensive power from the Gulf stream.

Elated at success, finally, of launching his 5,000 foot, six foot diameter, tube to draw cold water from the depths below the gulf stream, he expected little further difficulty to attach to his million dollar experiment in practical physics.

The tube, probably the most expensive part of the power project, was slipped into the water off this port Sunday, after two previous attempts had failed because, Professor Claude charged, of sabotage by interests opposed to his idea.

A dozen tug boats, a government destroyer, two companies of troops, and squads of provincial police assisted in the gigantic task. The tugs lined the apparatus to keep it from curving and breaking in the gulf stream until the two cables keeping it on the surface were cut and it slipped to the bottom of the ocean.

It is Prof. Claude's scheme to draw warm water from the surface of the gulf stream, vaporize it by submitting it to vacuum, using the steam to operate a turbine, and in turn condensing the steam again to maintain the vacuum.

He has the backing of the French Academy of Science and the Cuban government in the venture.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK IS FELT IN ITALIAN CITY

Candela, Foggia, Italy, —(AP)— A strong earthshock of six seconds duration was felt a few minutes before midnight. It was preceded by loud rumblings which terrorized the people. No damage was caused but houses weakened by the July quake were endangered anew.

Pill Boxes Save White House From Raid By Pharaoh Ants

A very simple sort of trap, it is the only thing the department of agriculture specialists found effective against the little red (Pharaoh's) ants that infested the White House.

Called in when White House attaches were unable to suppress the outbreak, R. T. Cotton and W. G. Ellington, entomologists, tried every scientific repellent and then began the pill box experiment which has resulted in a simple and effective ant trap for household use.

They took an ordinary round pill box, washed the interior with a solution of hot paraffin to make it water tight, and removed four small sections from the inner collar over which the top lifts. When in use the top is partially raised, exposing the openings through which the ants enter to obtain the poisoned syrup.

The contents of the box are protected by the cap from dust and excesive evaporation, and pet animals are unlikely to be attracted to such a closed container.

Being small, the containers are relatively inconspicuous and can be placed around wherever the ants are troublesome. They should be about two-thirds filled with small pieces of blotting paper to which is added a small quantity of poisoned syrup.

Cotton and Ellington used a poison consisting of 1 pint of water, 1 pound of sugar, 27 grains of thallium sulphate and 3 ounces of honey. The concoction was thoroughly stirred and brought almost to a boil.

Since thallium sulphate is a powerful and insidious poison, they warn that vapors given off by the syrup while it is being prepared should not be breathed.

Set athwart the ants' line of travel, the boxes will wipe out an infestation in a few days. Ants which do not die in the box move on among other ants, frequently carrying with them enough of the poison to kill 50 of their fellows.

POLICEMAN KILLED IN FIGHT WITH NEGROES

Darien, Ga.—(AP)— One police officer was killed and three other persons wounded, two perhaps fatally, early today in fights with two unidentified negroes. National guardsmen were mobilized from two counties to assist posses in hunting the negroes.

Anderson and Collins, each shot three times, were in a dangerous condition.

Anderson said he sought to arrest the negroes as suspicious characters when they approached a Darien bank about midnight. In a scuffle he was wounded. Posses trailed the negroes to a swamp near the city where the other shootings occurred, and national guardsmen were requested from Savannah and Brunswick.

More than 23,000,000 articles came to the dead letter office of the post-office department in the last year.

DRY CONSPIRACY CASE ENTERS FIFTH WEEK

Seattle —(AP)— Trial of the prohibition conspiracy case against Roy C. Lyle, former federal prohibition administrator and three of his subordinates, entered its fifth week today.

The story of William M. Whitney, Lyle's chief assistant and one of the defendants, remained to be finished. Last week Whitney denied having received large bribes as charged by the government and asserted his only connections with liquor runners had been confined to a plot to trap them.

ULLISH OPERATORS CONTINUE DRIVE TO ATTAIN HIGH LEVELS

'ould Boost Prices to Stage Complete Recovery from June Deflation

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
ssociated Press Financial Editor

New York—(AP)—With the general el of share prices in the critical ea that brought grief to the July ll campaign, bullish stock market erators today continued to drive toward new high levels for the overy from the June deflation.

Although several of the leading ares, such as U. S. Steel, were newhat sluggish, a wide assortnt of issues was marked up 1 to 3 nts, with a few wide movers ning 5 or more. Issues advancing o more than 2 points included ierican Can, American Telephone, nnecott, North American, General itors, Chrysler, Radio Keith, Air duction, Sears Roebuck, Dupont, me and Webster, Gulf States Steel, ithern Pacific, Transamerica and bman Corp. Columbian Carbon, burn and Diamond Match gained re than 5.

Although the market was someat more active than it has been of e, commission houses found the ieral public still cautious. Several the pool favorites were turned r in large volume, evidently in an ort to make an impressive appeare on the tape.

One block of 24,700 shares of Radio ith was traded, and blocks of 5,000 res were more numerous than for ie time.

Business news was scarcely of a racter to influence the market way or the other, but the more erful tenor was maintained. Decation of extra dividends on Mead inson and Novadel Agene, two her inactive curb stocks, was at st a change in the dividend news, not particularly significant.

Announcement that the new issue reasury certificates would bear low interest rate of 2⅜ per cent regarded as a fresh indication of plentitude of capital seeking emyment.

n the bond market, prime liens tinued in demand, steadily reducyields. Call money held at 2½ per t. Whether stocks are again to ay any such favor as they did ing the 1927-9 period remains to seen, but attractive dividend ds, as compared yields obtainable bonds, appears to be bringing a ain amount of investment capiback into equity shares. Moody's ulate the average yield on 403 ks at the end of August at 7.14 cent.

actors restricting the flow of inment funds into the share marhowever, are the widespread bethat numerous dividend reducs will be announced during the few months, and the fact that y of the prime dividend payers, ilar with investment trusts, have ady been bid up to levels yielding from 2 to 4 per cent.

ie motor and motor equipment es were generally firm, although expected autumn pickup in autoile manufacturing has been disointing, the fact that production in August to the lowest level e 1921 is interpreted in the more nistic motor trade circles as ining that considerable buying is g deferred pending better times, should make its apearance in nong the less favorable dvelops of the day was a sharp drop otton futures on publication of government crop estimate, and line price reductions in the metlitan-New York area. Oil shares sluggish.

MART SWAMPED BY 100,000 ARRIVALS

Offerings Are Largest in Recent Weeks and Buyers Have Plenty

Chicago —(AP)— Nearly 100,000 head of livestock arrived in the local stockyards today, swamping cattle and sheep alleys and giving hog buyers all the swine they needed. Offerings of cattle, estimated at 25,000, was the largest run reported here since last October and included 6,500 western rangers. Fully 3,000 calves were on hand. The they progressed slowly at the outset and the trend on all classes except selected yearlings was lower.

Hog receipts of 35,000 included 11,000, or nearly a third of the total suply consigned direct to packing houses from outside points. aSles were few and far between during the first round, but holders of butchers confidently asked 10-15c higher prices and the major operators tried to buy droves at steady prices. Choice 225-lb. butchers were held at $11.40, while shippers offered $11.15-11.25 for choice selections.

The largest run in two years was reported in the sheep sheds today, when 35,000 was posted as the day's arrivals. Packers claimed 2,000 on direct billing, but were forced into the open market for the bulk of their fat lambs. Prices offered were the lowest paid here in 16 years.

Arrivals for today were officially estimated at 25,000 cattle, 35,000 cattle, 35,000 hogs, 35,000 sheep, against 27,616 cattle, 39,848 hogs, 33,276 sheep for the corresponding day a year ago. A week ago was a holiday and the local stockyards were closed.

WHEAT MARKET AT STANDSTILL; CORN PRICES UNAFFECTED

Selling Done by Traders Who Seek to Take Profits in Hurry

Chicago —(AP)— Scattered selling by commission houses and Chicago traders eased the wheat market today to below Saturday's close after a firm start. A good part of the selling was by traders who went home Saturday owning wheat and who chose to collect profits. Trade was not large and the market was easily influenced and nervous. The wheat visible supply increased 3,583,000 bushels for the week and is now 191,088,000 bushels as compared with 184,408,000 bushels a year ago. Liverpool finished stronger, but this had only a transient effect on values here. The grain exchange at Buenos Aires was cosed because of a holiday in Argentine. Corn appeared over-bought after a firm start induced by a sensational crop report by a Chicago crop expert which predicted a total 1930 yield of only 1,750,000 bushels and the upturn was short-lived. Prices eased back to below Saturday's finish. Wheat closed approximately 1c off and corn showed a loss of around ⅜c a bushel.

Wheat sagged around 1c a bushel from the best level because of scattered selling and a let up of buying. Trade was mixed and the market nervous from the new levels. The seaboard reported a moderate export business over the weekend, mostly Canadian wheat. Liverpool prices were higher because of complaints as to the poor conditions of the wheat crop in many parts of western Europe and reports of large wheat shipments last week to Germany and Italy.

Merchants' stocks in the United Kingdom are reported as almost exl hausted and the quantity of wheat in the holds of traders now on the high seas bound for England have decreased nearly 800,000 bushels. Russian offers of wheat are higher in price and less abundant. Short sellers were driven to cover at Liverpool by these reports and with the consequent buying prices bulged. An official announcement from Argentina said the grain exchange at Buenos Aires was closed today because of a holiday. Corn weakened from profit taking and some selling. Oats followed wheat and corn.

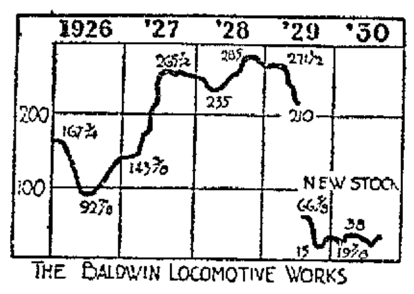
THE BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS

The Baldwin Locomotive works is one of the two largest steam locomotive manufacturers in the United States. The concern also makes electric locomotives, heavy machinery and machine tools. It has a number of subsidiaries. The main plant is located near Eddystone, Pa., where the company owns 487 acres of land. The company also owns 19 acres close to the center of the business district of Philadelphia where the plant formerly was located. This is now a very valuable asset.



THE BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS

The net earnings in 1929 amounted to $2,300,463, which compared with $718,867 in 1928. Officials of the company predicted an excellent year for 1930.

The funded debt totals $17,676,000. The capital stock outstanding includes $20,000,000 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par value and 843,000 chares of no par common. Late in 1929, the stockholders approved a change in the common from 200,000 shares of $100 par value to 2,000,000 shares of no par value and the issue of 800,000 of the no par value in exchange for the former $100 par stock on the basis of four to one. The preferred stock has equal voting power with the common. Dividends have been regularly on the preferred and the present rate on the common is 87-½ cents a share quarterly.

As of December 31, 1929, the total current assets were $33,513,403. The current liabilities amounted to $12,966,452, and the net working capital was $20,546,951. The book value applicable to the no par stock amounted to $56.41 a share.

New York—Steel plant operations in the Youngstown district advanced this week to 58 per cent against 57 per cent last week, Dow, Jones and Co. reports.

Cash dividend disbursements of the Standard Oil group in the third quarter totaled $68,859,106, compared with $68,590,901 in the second quarter and $65,425,981 in the third quarter last year.

The Chrysler Corp., has formed a new division, the Amplex Manufacturing Co., to handle the sale of non-automotive products.

Oakland-Pontiac leaders sold 7,443 automobiles at retail in August, a gain of 17 per cent over July, a statement by company officials said.

S. W. Leidich, president of Lewellyn Laboratories, Inc., of Philadelphia, announced that Lekellyn Laboratories, Schettler Drug Co., of Detroit, and Miller Drug Co., of Cleveland, retail organizations, have completed arrangements to combine their buying power and laboratory facilities. Although each company will retain its separate identity, the new association, with approximately $3,000,000 of sales, he said, will permit of mojor economics in operation and will result in lower costs in compounding drugs.

The Standard Oil Co., of New York today reduced the price of gasoline in the metropolitan area of New York two cents a gallon, making the retail price 16.3 cents, including tax. Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc., Tidewater Oil Co., Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corp., The Texas Co., and other companies followed the action of Standard of New York with a 2-cent reduction in the retail price.

Paul Klugh, vice president and general manager of the Zenith Radio Corp., Chicago, said current operations of the corporation are on a profitable basis and that the current quarter, which began Aug. 1, should show earnings considerably better than in the preceding three months, when a net loss of $6,092 was reported, against a loss of $281,931 in the corresponding period last. He added that the profits in the next quarter, which includes the peak months of the radio season, should be considerably larger than in the current quarter.

SALES INCREASE ON NEW YORK CURB MART

Utilities Meet Best Demand Since Labor Day; Sentiment Improves

New York —(AP)— Sentiment improved on the curb today and prices pointed higher, although the advance was not particularly aggressive and was interrupted now and then by minor profit taking. Sales volume increased.

Utilities met the best demand since Labor day. Much of the buying appeared to be in the nature of short covering for there were some wide gains in the less active shares, but a slight improvement in inquiry from other sources was noted. Electric bond and Share, United Gas, American Superpower and United Light "A" were the favorites, advancing somewhat less than a point on the average. Consolidated of Baltimore and Northern States Power "A" rallied several points each.

Industrials and specialties were moderately strong. Great Atlantic and Pacific soared more than a dozen points on a considerable turnover for that stock. Ford Motor of Canada was another bullish feature, while Todd Shipyard and Mead Johnson pushed higher. The strength of the latter was prompted by the declaration of a 50 cent extra dividend, double the amount of the last extra. Novadel Agene, which increased its common rate and also declared an extra, gained a point. A. O. Smith moved up several points.

Announcement that Public Utility Holding Corp. planned to acquire United States and Overseas, an investment trust operating in the foreign field, found both stocks firm. United Founders, which is identified with the same group, improved in sympathy.

Interest was revived in the oils, which have been unusually sluggish. Standard of Indiana, Gulf Cities Service, Vacuum and Humble were among the day's leaders. Advances, however, were nominal. Derby Oil preferred rallied 8 points on odd lot sales.

Call money renewed on the curb at 3 per cent.

DROUGHT DOESN'T STOP PREPARATIONS FOR FLOOD DANGERS

BY J. C. ROYLE

Copyright 1930 By Cons. Press.

Washington —(CPA)—In spite of anxiety over the drought, federal and state authorities and well informed farmers are not forgetting the danger from floods.

"Hold Everything" has ceased to be a mere catchword or title of a musical play and is the settled business policy of individuals and communities. This is because erosion each year removes 20 times as much plant food from the farms as is consumed in the growing of all the crops in the United States. Moreover, it is possible to replace plant food consumed by crops through use of fertilizers but it is impossible to replace top soil washed out to sea.

This washing away of tillable soil is gradually reducing the area of land on which crops can be grown, according to H. H. Bennett, of the department of agriculture.

"We are not on the verge of a land shortage," he said today, "but we are getting closer to a shortage of good farm land than is generally supposed. More than 17,000,000 acres of land which formerly was tilled has been washed so badly that farmers cannot afford to reclaim it."

In discussing the efforts made by state and federal authorities to check the loss, he said 75 per cent of all the cultivated land in the United States is seriously affected and that the amount of plant food when by experimentation operating in 7 of these districts and it is planned to open them in all the others. Already schemes designed to check the quick run-off of rain water. Fields terraces are being built. These are designed to check the downhill flow of spring freshets. When it rains enough for water to run downhill unhindered, costly washing goes on. If this is permitted to continue until clay spots appear, it often is too late to remedy the damage.

This situation intensifies the controversy as to the proper plan of Mississippi valley flood control, since the father of waters annually carries 400,000,000 tons of mud, most of which comes from the cultivated fields of the valley, into the Gulf of Mexico. Not all the mud gets to sea and it is likely that 100 times as much is washed annually from the farms along the Mississippi's banks and those of its tributaries.

In Oklahoma, according to the agricultural department, 13,000,000 acres of the 16,000,000 devoted to farming are suffering from erosion. the problem is equally bad in the Missouri river county, in east Tennessee, the Ohio valley, and in southern Wisconsin. The Palouse region of Washington also is suffering.

According to Mr. Bennett, the soil of the average upland farm is 6 to 12 inches deep and it is a matter of only a short time, once the natural underbrush is cleared, until the subsoil is reached. This is less productive and less absorptive, adding to the volume of floods. It took nature 300 years to produce each inch of top soil, it is estimated, while rains wash it away at the rate of an inch every 7 years.

REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF CHILDREN DEATHS

Madison—(AP)— Children from 10 to 14 years old in Wisconsin have reduced their death list from 447 to 371 in the past two years, the state board of health reported today.

Appendicitis caused more deaths in 1929 than during the preceding year, mounting from 42 to 50, but fewer deaths from the other major causes were recorded during the past year. Accidents caused 91 deaths in this group in 1929 as compared with 95 in 1928. This was the major death cause.

Mengitis and cancer claimed 10 victims each during 1929, displacing diabetes and diphtheria as the second largest death cause.

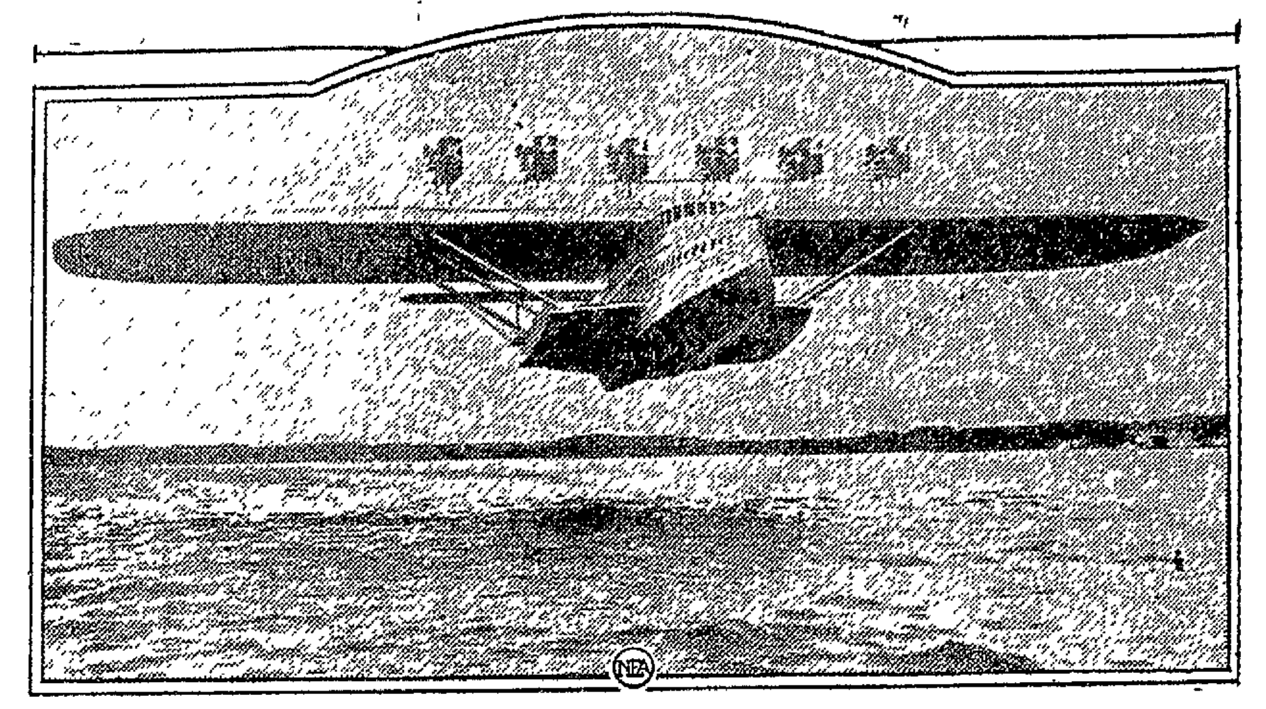
Trial Shows Do-X Ready for Atlantic Hop



A winged giant of the skies, the flying yacht DO-X is strikingly pictured here as she soared from the Bodensee in Germany after taxing less than 100 yards across the water. A series of short test flights has satisfied Dornier technical experts that the twelve-motored craft—largest plane in the world—is ready for its projected trans-Atlantic flight to New York in September. The newly-installed motors are of American manufacture, and an American aviator, C. H. Schildhauer, will serve as navigator and second pilot.

BLAINE IS CHARGED WITH FALSEHOODS

Milwaukee —(AP)— Sen. John J. Blaine has publicly issued figures which he "could not help but know were grossly misleading and misrepresentative of the true facts," Gov. Walter Kohler said in a campaign speech here today.

"To one who is not closely associated with a political campaign it will be incredible that men of presumable honor and integrity would distrot, stretch or misrepresent truth to attain their ends," the governor said.

"First, it was charged that receipts from state taxes during the past fiscal year were $6,500,000 more than they were in 1928— a statement which is one part truth and nine parts falsehood, since the difference was due not to an increase in taxes by $6,500,000, but to a change in the date of paying which threw 1928 receipts into the fiscal year 1929. Thus by a change in book-keeping practice, receipts for 1928 were less than one-sixth of normal, and it was this abnormal figure that the senator used in basing his misleading charge.

"For an ex-governor and senator of the United States to stoop to such tactics, will, to decent citizens, be an incomprehensible thing.

"But this was not all. It was charged furthermore that capital expenditures for charitable and penal institutions were less during my administration than under preceding administrations of Wisconsin government. The true facts as revealed by the director of the budget show that appropriations by the last legislature were 30 per cent greater than the average of the three preceding administrations.

MADISON MUSICIAN WILL BE DEPORTED

Madison —(AP)—George Szpinalski, Madison violinst and music instructor, must return to Poland because he technically violated the immigration laws, according to information received here from Washington.

Cong. John M. Nelson and Sen. Robert M. LaFollette had interceded on behalf of the musician, as had Ignatz Paderewski, pianist, but the immigration board of review held that although it had given the most liberal interpretation of his activities it could not find that he met the requirements.

ACCIDENTS CAUSED 131 CHILDREN DEATHS

Madison—(AP)—Accidents were responsible for the death of 131 of the 502 children between the ages of five and nine who died during 1929, the state board of health reported today.

Vehicles killed 62 children in the five to nine age group while 25 were victims of drowning. Ten were killed in falls. Accidents contributed three time as many deaths in this age group as did any other single cause.

Although the number of victims of accidents decreased since the previous year, an increase of 31 was registered in the entire group. Children five to nine years old should be especially guarded against appendicitis, pneumonia, heart disease, diphtheria, influenza and tuberculosis, the board said.

SKULLCAPS NOW IN VOGUE IN LONDON

Women Wear Old-fashioned Head Pieces Under Their Hats

New York —(CPA)— If you happen to have a crocheted skullcap such as grandmothers used to wear, it's just the thing to wear beneath your new silk hat. These hats, of stiff silk, outrival Gainsborough. They reach so far on one side and turn up so high on the other, being in addition worn on one ear, that the skull cap is necessary to preserve an artistic balance.

The thing to do with the string of pearls which your bridegroom gave you (Oh, didn't he?) is to wear it around the rim of the wedding veil. Where the pearls leave off, little knots of orange blossoms eke out the effect. At any rate, in London.

Among the latest sleeping pajamas, straight from Paris, are some in pale blue crepe with a boutonniere of rosebuds on the left shoulder. At the knee, the trousers begin to flare and if there's any difference between them and old-time pantalettes, what is it?

URGE DRIVERS NOT TO RUN DOWN GAME BIRDS

Madison—(AP)—Because of the large increase in the number of game birds, the state conservation commission today urged care in the driving of vehicles on country roads.

Hundreds of prairie chicken ruffed grouse, partridge rabbits and squirrels as well as other game animals have been killed by motorists during the past two years, the commission said.

Smart Young People Are Doubling Their College Clothes Budgets By Making Their Own Wardrobes

There's a huge satisfaction in being the fashion queen of the campus when you can say with pride about each smart costume, "I made this myself." If you choose wisely and well, you can plan a wardrobe that will carry you through till Christmas — and make it or have it made for about half of what you expected to pay for your clothes. A four-piece suit with extra blouses, one or two campus frocks, one or two silk afternoon frocks and an evening dress or two, with a wrap, will make a wardrobe that is smart, practical and versatile . . . particularly when you use our new fabrics and Vogue Patterns as your guide.

Faille — $2.98 Yd.
Chiffon — $1.98 Yd.

The perfect campus frock is made of a thin woolen . . . what better than a smart tweed-printed challis? Or a wool tweed. Vogue Pattern 5282 has a short bolero and scarf while the peplum is smart over the pleated skirt.

Wool Challis—98c Yd.

A four-piece suit of covert boasts that it can take a college miss through the winter with perfect chic. Make it in one of the new dark browns, wine red or a deep green. Vogue Pattern S3441 has a long coat with a cape . . . a coat that is splendid for general wear over other clothes. Then it has a smart tailored suit with a collarless jacket. A separate scarf that buttons cleverly may be worn with both suit and coat. The blouse is a double-breasted affair, adapted to the tiny checked silk shown here, or to jersey.

Covert—$2.98 Yd.
